"LOWDEN-FOR-PRESIDENT" BOOM TAKES SHAPE

Potential Battle Line in China 1,000 Miles Long

FARM BELT IS AROUSED OVER FARM RELIEF

61 MEMBERS IOWA LEGISLATURE URGE LOWDEN TO BE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

CHICAGO TRIBUNE IN A HUGE HEADLINE, "VETO PUTS LOWDEN IN RACE"

Washington, Feb. 26.—The farm bloc was squeezed out temporarily in the legislative tangle in the senate today.

The plan to force an immediate vote on President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill was interrupted when senators favoring other legislation obtained the floor, and prevented the scheduled vote.

This precipitated a parliamentary tangle which may delay the vote several hours.

An unsuccessful attempt to call up his farm relief bill was made in the house today by Rep. Aswell, democrat. Rep. Haugen, republican, Iowa, co-author of the McNary-Haugen bill, and Adkins, republican, Illinois, objected to consideration of the measure. When the McNary-Haugen bill was considered by the house the Aswell bill was offered as a substitute and defeated, 160 to 144.

By MAX BUCKINGHAM (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Feb. 26.—"Lowden-for-President" booms took definite form in the farm belt today.

News of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill had scarcely reached the middle west when friends and spokesmen of agriculture brought the name of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and proponent of relief legislation, into the 1928 presidential race.

Sixty-one members of the Iowa state legislature signed a resolution urging Lowden to become a presidential candidate.

The Chicago Tribune, largest morning newspaper in the middle west, today carried huge headlines, reading: "Veto puts Lowden in the race." Another headline read: "West answers Coolidge with 1928 candidate."

"The outstanding effect of the vetoing of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill by President Coolidge was to launch the candidacy of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois for the republican nomination for president next year," asserted the article in the Tribune over which the headlines appeared.

"Renomination of the president will be formidably opposed by the corn belt and other sections of the agricultural west, which is already aflame with Lowden sentiment," the article read. It further set forth that "organizing of the west for Lowden is to begin at once."

While some editorial comment praised Mr. Coolidge for his courage in vetoing the bill, others made it plain that the fight for farm relief could not be checked by a presidential veto.

"Victory in its fight for justice has been snatched from American agriculture," stated an editorial in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, "just at the moment when, after four years of the fiercest fighting, hopes had been elevated to the highest. In dashing these hopes, President Coolidge has assumed a responsibility as great as any in the history of the presidency."

The Omaha Bee commented as follows: "President Coolidge has made his choice. He prefers to listen to the industrial east rather than the agricultural west. One thing is certain, the fight for justice to the farmer will not be abandoned. It is not humanly possible to repress and restrict the great basic industry of agriculture and not invite disaster."

The Kansas City Star did not dwell on the merits of the farm relief bill but said the president's "veto of the great farm scheme in the face of the tremendous farm bloc pressure is evidence of his upstanding qualities."

Individual comment from agriculture's leaders was virtually unanimous in opposition to the presidential veto.

S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, suggested that Mr. Coolidge lacked "vision," calling attention to the words of Abraham Lincoln whom he quoted as saying:

"If there be inevitable conflict be-

THINK WOMAN'S HEART CHARRED IN A STOVE

Amarillo, Tex., Feb. 26.—(UP)—A chemical analysis of what appeared to be a human heart found in the nest of charred bones and scorched portions of a woman's silken undergarment, was to be made here today by Dr. M. L. Fuller, city health officer.

The organ and bones were found by J. L. Womble, second hand dealer, in a stove he had purchased a few days ago and which he was cleaning.

Womble called police and an investigation was begun immediately.

INQUEST OVER BODY OF MOVIE DIRECTOR REYNOLDS

LOS ANGELES MAN DIED OF SELF INFLICTED BULLET WOUND

SHOOTING OCCURRED AT A DINNER PARTY AT HIS HOME

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 26.—(UP) An inquest over the body of Lynn Reynolds, young movie director, who died of a self inflicted bullet wound, was contemplated by authorities today.

Reynolds succumbed in an emergency hospital here yesterday where he had been removed the night before from his home where the shooting occurred at a dinner party.

Investigating officers said today they had been informed that Reynolds had drunk a pint of whiskey before returning home Wednesday night from the high Sierras where a movie company he was directing had been snowbound for days.

Three Manhattan cocktails were consumed by Reynolds before he sat down to dinner, W. E. White, a guest at the homecoming party, and a witness to the shooting, told police, according to their report.

White, the officers said, admitted having brought liquor to the Reynolds home to make the cocktails of which he told the investigators the movie director was particularly fond.

BALLOON TRIP POSTPONED BY HEAVY SNOWSTORM

Detroit, Feb. 26.—(UP)—After a postponement caused by a heavy snowstorm, William C. Naylor and Kenneth M. Warren planned to cast off today in the balloon Skylark in an attempt to better the world records for distance and endurance.

The pair was scheduled to start yesterday.

The attempt is being sponsored by the Detroit Flying club.

tween agriculture and any other interest that other must yield."

E. T. Meredith, of Iowa, secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration, said: "I feel the president's veto is a mistake."

Lowden, who turned down the republican vice presidential nomination in 1924 on the excuse that he preferred to "spend my time and energy in the interests of the farmers," was traveling in Arizona when news of the veto was brought to him by the United Press. He refused to make any statement on the subject.

Washington, Feb. 26.—With the die cast against them, farm leaders will seek a vote from the senate today on the McNary-Haugen bill which they admit, however, they can not pass over the veto of President Coolidge. The necessary two-thirds is lacking.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, who steered the bill to its enactment by the senate, will ask a vote as soon as the senate convenes at noon. His request is expected to stir up a running-fire of political debate, for the question now has become enmeshed in politics. The debate may give some clue as to the lines of expected political retaliation.

If the vote is not taken before one o'clock, the bill will be laid aside until the senate votes on the cloture petition for the Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam bill, after which the farm measure will be taken up again as privileged legislation.

Long testified he had been kept virtually a prisoner on the vessel by Captain J. H. MacDonald and made his escape on a coal barge as the Clackamas was coaling in midstream. Capt. MacDonald, Chief Officer J. P. Fraser and Chief Engineer J. P. Fitzgerald were held in $5,000 bail each and 25 members of the crew were held in $1,000 bail for a further hearing.

Six men whom Long said were not implicated in the rum running, remained on board the ship.

SENATE SEEKING FINAL ACTION ON BOULDER DAM BILL

LEGISLATIVE BATTLE OF DECADE APPROACHING A CLIMAX

SENATE PREPARES AT 1 P. M. TO VOTE ON LIMITING DEBATE

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Feb. 26.—The legislative battle of a decade approached a climax today with the senate preparing to vote at 1 P. M. on a motion to limit debate and force final action on the Boulder Dam bill.

Prospects for a two-thirds majority to enable such action were not bright and predictions on both sides were that cloture would be defeated and the measure ditched.

Those working with Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, California, for the measure were, however, laboring diligently in an effort to sway the tide, encouraged by their success in keeping the measure before the senate for eight days and through one entire night session.

Johnson's friends were urging him to issue a threat to filibuster against every other measure until adjournment unless cloture is adopted, but he has not yet decided what he will do.

LIPTON TO CONTINUE TO MANAGE HIS AMERICAN BUSINESS

London, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Sir Thomas Lipton will take time off from his new attempt to win the America's cup to retain active management of Thomas L. Lipton, Inc., his American business, the sportsman told the United Press today.

Sir Thomas is retiring from Lipton's Ltd., his English company.

"My retirement from active control of Lipton's Ltd. does not change my position with the American company, which is my own property and in which I will continue to control and to manage actively," he said.

"Tell my good American friends I am still going strong and am interested in their welfare."

I. C. C. PERMITS JOINT USE OF WESTERN RAIL LINE

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today approved, with modifications, the proposal of the Southern Pacific railroad to permit the Oregon Trunk railway joint use of its line between Painesville and the north switch at Klamath Falls, Ore., either party to construct the branches provided they do not extend into territory tributary to the Oregon, California and Eastern railway.

The proposal also provides that the Oregon Trunk line be permitted to use the Southern Pacific through Klamath Falls as a bridge line to reach the property of the Oregon Trunk south of Klamath Falls. The Oregon Trunk railway is to pay rent at the rate of five per cent annually on one-half the cost of facilities.

NEARLY 1,000 MEN ABOARD FISHING FLEET

POSSIBILITY OF THEIR LOSS WITH ALL THEIR CREWS ABOARD

Seward, Alaska, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Boats of the Alaskan halibut fleet were straggling into port here today, reporting one of the most terrific storm battles in years on the banks, 100 miles off shore.

Nearly 1,000 men were aboard the fishing boats endangered in the storm and several of the craft were scattered and their fate is unknown. Possibility that some of the boats were lost with all hands was admitted.

One hundred and fifty boats compose the halibut catching fleet.

The storm has been raging the north Pacific since Thursday. Even the boats which were able to approach Seward were unable to dock because of the heavy seas rolling.

The Admiral Watson, bound for Kodiak from Seward, was forced to cruise Resurrection Bay for 36 hours unable to make dock here.

The steamer Starr dragged its anchors and came within 50 feet of the shore when it escaped to the outer bay.

The gale was intensified by a heavy hail storm and lurid lightning flashes.

Cordova, Alaska, Feb. 26.—After all hope had been given up for the small gasoline boat Imp and her crew, the craft was found near the entrance to Cordova harbor where it had sought refuge from the heavy seas earlier in the week. The Imp was sighted by the forestry boat Chugach carrying supplies to the lighthouse at Hichenbrook Island.

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—An important letter needed in the impeachment proceedings of Federal Judge Frank Cooper, northern district of New York, has been removed from the treasury files, Rep. LaGuardia, republican, New York, charged in the house today.

LaGuardia said the letter was sent here from New York and disappeared after its arrival. The letter was sent by Cooper to Prohibition Administrator Merrick, and had reference to the scheme to trap bootleggers, LaGuardia said.

JOSEPH R. WILSON, BROTHER OF LATE PRESIDENT, DIES

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Joseph R. Wilson, brother of the late war president, died early today at his home in the Chadford Apartments here.

Except in 1913 when he was an unsuccessful candidate for secretary of the United States senate, the late president's brother took no active interest in national politics. He was defeated by James M. Baker, of South Carolina.

POLICE ASSERT POOR BOXES OF CHURCH LOOTED

GREAT BRITAIN INFORMS THE DIAZ GOVERNMENT IN NICARAGUA

London, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Great Britain has informed the Diaz government in Nicaragua, it was learned today, of the extent of British losses due to the current and recent Nicaraguan revolutions. It was understood that formal representations regarding a settlement would be made later.

Authorities today refused to comment on the contention of the liberals that the British cruiser Colombo was ordered to Nicaragua as a result of an agreement between Washington and London.

British losses in Nicaragua were estimated to have amounted to $2,500,000.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The state department today drafted a note to Great Britain repeating its assurances that American forces of occupation in Nicaragua are providing proper protection for British lives and property there, the United Press learned.

The American note is in reply to the British notes announcing dispatch of a cruiser to Corinto because of the alleged absence of American assurances of protection for British interests.

Officials say they cannot understand the British contention that this government withheld such assurances when actually these assurances were repeatedly given and are being carried out.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur told the United Press today he had no idea Britain would send a ship to Nicaragua until he saw press reports to that effect. State department officials likewise were surprised by the British action.

With eleven American naval vessels in Nicaragua and American forces controlling all of the populated areas of the country and the railroad, the necessity of sending a British cruiser is not fully understood here, it was said.

PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO REAR OF FREIGHT

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26.—(UP)—One man was injured, probably fatally, and many others were shaken severely today when the Flamingo, fast limited on the Louisville & Nashville railroad between Jacksonville and Cincinnati, crashed into the rear of a freight train at Christiansburg.

R. J. Thomas, fireman of Louisville, jumped just before the crash and was caught between the locomotive and freight train. He suffered a fractured skull and spinal injuries.

Fourteen men on the Advance and ten on the Conqueror escaped.

ONLY POINT OF CONTACT AT PRESENT NEAR SUNKIANG

POSITION OF TWO MAIN ARMIES RESEMBLES TWO-PRONGED FORK

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The potential battle line in China today stretched approximately 1,000 miles northwestward from the sea coast south of Shanghai to inner Mongolia on the northwest. The only point of contact between the far-flung forces of the north and south was in the vicinity of Sunkiang, about 30 miles south of Shanghai.

Approximately two-thirds of China lay behind the lines of the Cantonese nationalists, embracing the southern and western extremities of the republic.

The position of the two main armies roughly resembled a two-pronged fork, the juncture occurring near Sunkiang and the handle, if there were one, extending into the sea. Marshal Chan Tsoglin is the principal militarist of the north, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek is the commander of the southern armies.

The northern allies' lines begin at the great wall west of Kaigan on the border of Mongolia and then lie fairly straight southward for 400 miles through western Shansi, turning 80 miles southeast of the city of Honan and continuing southeastward to Nanking, Lake Taihu and Sunkiang.

The southern armies' lines commence about mid-way along the western border of the province of Shensi and the eastern border of Kansu. Thence the line runs eastward, crossing the Peking-Hankow railway near Sinyang and thence southeast, paralleling the northern army to Sunkiang and the coast.

A third army is commanded by the Christian general, Feng Yuhsiang. It was driven out of Peking and beyond Kaigan by the northerners several months ago. Feng is independent, although co-operating with the southerners. He has penetrated Shensi about 400 miles directly south almost to the border of the Hupeh province and today was in eastern Shensi, along the Yellow river.

The principal northern military leaders are:

Chang Tso-Lin, Sun Chuan-fang, Chang Chung-chang, Bei Boa-Stan, Meng Choo-Yueh, Chou Ying-Jen and Wu Pei-Fu.

The principal southern military leaders are:

Chiang Kai-Shek, Li Chi-Sao, Wu Teh-Chen, Chi Bai-Boh, Li Foo-Liu, Chen Chien and Pang Seng-Chi.

UNRULY TROOPS AT THE FOREIGN SETTLEMENT

London, Feb. 26.—Unruly troops of the army of Chang Chung-Chang tried to enter the foreign settlement in Shanghai, threatening police and firing their revolvers into the air when they were halted, said a dispatch to the London Daily Mail today.

Two companies of volunteer troops appeared in the settlement, preventing a serious disturbance, the dispatch said.

The Shanghai railway station, where Chang's soldiers congregated on their way to Sunkiang and where British Punjab troops are on guard, is a constant danger point, the dispatch added. It described the Chang fighters as being "hardboiled" and said they were armed with automatic pistols and rifles.

By MILES W. VAUGHN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—Sunkiang, key city to Shanghai, where a decisive battle in the war for control of China is expected to be fought, today was reported to have changed hands twice in the last 24 hours without a struggle.

Troops of the northern general, Chang Chung-Chang, were in possession of the city this morning, and 10,000 of Chang's troops were officially reported en route there from Nanking.

The vanguard of the Cantonese army started filtering into the outskirts of Sunkiang early yesterday, it was reported, and the northern troops hurriedly evacuated. Later, (Continued on page 3)

I. C. C. PERMITS JOINT USE OF WESTERN RAIL LINE

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today approved, with modifications, the proposal of the Southern Pacific railroad to permit the Oregon Trunk railroad joint use of its line between Painesville, Ore., either party to construct the branches provided they do not extend into territory tributary to the Oregon, California and Eastern railway.

The proposal also provides that the Oregon Trunk line be permitted to use the Southern Pacific through Klamath Falls as a bridge line to reach the property of the Oregon Trunk south of Klamath Falls. The Oregon Trunk railway is to pay rent at the rate of five per cent annually on one-half the cost of facilities.

NEARLY 1,000 MEN ABOARD FISHING FLEET

Seward, Alaska, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Boats of the Alaskan halibut fleet were straggling into port here today, reporting one of the most terrific storm battles in years on the banks, 100 miles off shore.

Nearly 1,000 men were aboard the fishing boats endangered in the storm and several of the craft were scattered and their fate is unknown. Possibility that some of the boats were lost with all hands was admitted.

One hundred and fifty boats compose the halibut catching fleet.

The storm has been raging the north Pacific since Thursday. Even the boats which were able to approach Seward were unable to dock because of the heavy seas rolling.

The Admiral Watson, bound for Kodiak from Seward, was forced to cruise Resurrection Bay for 36 hours unable to make dock here.

The steamer Starr dragged its anchors and came within 50 feet of the shore when it escaped to the outer bay.

The gale was intensified by a heavy hail storm and lurid lightning flashes.

Cordova, Alaska, Feb. 26.—After all hope had been given up for the small gasoline boat Imp and her crew, the craft was found near the entrance to Cordova harbor where it had sought refuge from the heavy seas earlier in the week. The Imp was sighted by the forestry boat Chugach carrying supplies to the lighthouse at Hichenbrook Island.

IMPORTANT LETTER IN IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE LOST

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—An important letter needed in the impeachment proceedings of Federal Judge Frank Cooper, northern district of New York, has been removed from the treasury files, Rep. LaGuardia, republican, New York, charged in the house today.

LaGuardia said the letter was sent here from New York and disappeared after its arrival. The letter was sent by Cooper to Prohibition Administrator Merrick, and had reference to the scheme to trap bootleggers, LaGuardia said.

JOSEPH R. WILSON, BROTHER OF LATE PRESIDENT, DIES

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Joseph R. Wilson, brother of the late war president, died early today at his home in the Chadford Apartments here.

Except in 1913 when he was an unsuccessful candidate for secretary of the United States senate, the late president's brother took no active interest in national politics. He was defeated by James M. Baker, of South Carolina.

POLICE ASSERT POOR BOXES OF CHURCH LOOTED

New York, Feb. 26.—(UP)—An employee of the Church of the Paulist Fathers has looted poor boxes of $10,000 within the past 14 months and has sent the money to Italian banks, police said today after they had arrested Quentin Prosperi, church porter.

ROMANCE OF DANCER AND MILLIONAIRE ENDS

New York, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The romance of Connie Almy, dancer, and Stanley C. Comstock, wealthy Florida realty operator, apparently has run its course.

Miss Almy, who earned fame by being the one young woman who has won a man away from Peggy Joyce, has consulted a lawyer here, it was learned today, and breach of promise suit has been threatened. The attorney, Francis Dale, head of counsel for Edward W. Browning, admitted Miss Almy had conferred with him, but was reticent as to details.

BRITISH MAKE PUBLIC LOSSES IN NICARAGUA

GREAT BRITAIN INFORMS THE DIAZ GOVERNMENT IN NICARAGUA

London, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Great Britain has informed the Diaz government in Nicaragua, it was learned today, of the extent of British losses due to the current and recent Nicaraguan revolutions. It was understood that formal representations regarding a settlement would be made later.

Authorities today refused to comment on the contention of the liberals that the British cruiser Colombo was ordered to Nicaragua as a result of an agreement between Washington and London.

British losses in Nicaragua were estimated to have amounted to $2,500,000.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The state department today drafted a note to Great Britain repeating its assurances that American forces of occupation in Nicaragua are providing proper protection for British lives and property there, the United Press learned.

The American note is in reply to the British note announcing dispatch of a cruiser to Corinto because of the alleged absence of American assurances of protection for British interests.

Officials say they cannot understand the British contention that this government withheld such assurances when actually these assurances were repeatedly given and are being carried out.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur told the United Press today he had no idea Britain would send a ship to Nicaragua until he saw press reports to that effect. State department officials likewise were surprised by the British action.

With eleven American naval vessels in Nicaragua and American forces controlling all of the populated areas of the country and the railroad, the necessity of sending a British cruiser is not fully understood here, it was said.

PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO REAR OF FREIGHT

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26.—(UP)—One man was injured, probably fatally, and many others were shaken severely today when the Flamingo, fast limited on the Louisville & Nashville railroad between Jacksonville and Cincinnati, crashed into the rear of a freight train at Christiansburg.

R. J. Thomas, fireman of Louisville, jumped just before the crash and was caught between the locomotive and freight train. He suffered a fractured skull and spinal injuries.

WIND AND HIGH WAVES SINK TWO STEAMERS IN OHIO

Ashland, Ky., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Two steamers, the Advance, owned by the Inter-Waterways company, Louisville, and the Conqueror, owned by the subsidiary of the Wheeling Steel company, were sunk today in the Ohio river by winds and high waves. Fourteen men on the Advance and ten on the Conqueror escaped.

POSITION OF TWO MAIN ARMIES RESEMBLES TWO-PRONGED FORK

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The potential battle line in China today stretched approximately 1,000 miles northward from the sea coast south of Shanghai to inner Mongolia on the northwest. The only point of contact between the far-flung forces of the north and south was in the vicinity of Sunkiang, about 30 miles south of Shanghai.

Approximately two-thirds of China lay behind the lines of the Cantonese nationalists, embracing the southern and western extremities of the republic.

The position of the two main armies roughly resembled a two-pronged fork, the juncture occurring near Sunkiang and the handle, if one were, extending into the sea. Marshal Chan Tsoglin is the principal military of the north, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek is the commander of the southern armies.

The northern allies' lines begin at the great wall west of Kaigan on the border of Mongolia and then lies fairly straight southward for 400 miles through western Shansi, turning 80 miles southeast of the city of Honan and continuing southeastward to Nanking, Lake Taihu and Sunkiang.

The southern armies' lines commence about mid-way along the western border of the province of Shensi and the eastern border of Kansu. Thence the line runs eastward, crossing the Peking-Hankow railway near Sinyang and thence southeast, paralleling the northern army to Sunkiang and the coast.

A third army is commanded by the Christian general, Feng Yuhsiang. It was driven out of Peking and beyond Kaigan by the northerners several months ago. Feng is independent, although co-operating with the southerners. He has penetrated Shensi about 400 miles directly south almost to the border of the Hupeh province and today was in eastern Shensi, along the Yellow river.

The principal northern military leaders are:

Chang Tso-Lin, Sun Chuan-Fang, Chang Chung-Chang, Bei Bo-Stan, Meng Chao-Yueh, Chou Ying-Jen and Wu Pei-Fu.

Chiang Kai-Shek, Li Chi-Sca, Wu Teh-Chen, Chi Bai-Beh, Li Foo-Liu, Chen Chien and Pang Seng-Chi.

UNRULY TROOPS AT THE FOREIGN SETTLEMENT

London, Feb. 26.—Unruly troops of the army of Chang Chung-Chang tried to enter the foreign settlement in Shanghai, threatening police and firing their revolvers into the air when they were halted, said a dispatch to the London Daily Mail today.

Two companies of volunteer troops appeared in the settlement, preventing a serious disturbance, the dispatch said.

The Shanghai railway station, where Chang's soldiers congregated on their way to Sunkiang and where British Punjab troops are on guard, is a constant danger point, the dispatch added. It described the Chang fighters as being "hardboiled" and said they were armed with automatic pistols and rifles.

By MILES W. VAUGHN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—Sunkiang, key city to Shanghai, where a decisive battle in the war for control of China is expected to be fought, today was reported to have changed hands twice in the last 24 hours without a struggle.

Troops of the northern general, Chang Chung-Chang, were in possession of the city this morning, and 10,000 of Chang's troops were officially reported en route there from Nanking.

The vanguard of the Cantonese army started filtering into the outskirts of Sunkiang early yesterday, it was reported, and the northern troops hurriedly evacuated. Later,

SENATE WETS ARE OUTWITTED BY DRYS
DRY LEADER, SENATOR WILLIS, PRIES INTO LEGISLATIVE SNARL

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Senate wets were outwitted by drys today when Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, dry leader, pried into the legislative snarl and obtained a priority position for the Andrews dry reorganization bill.

Willis moved that the senate consider the bill under a morning hour rule which prevented continuation of the filibuster against the measure.

Willis' motion was adopted without a record vote.

Secret of Big Light Beam
In huge electric searchlights that cast beams visible for 50 or 60 miles on clear nights, the carbons are not like those of ordinary arc lamps. Instead, the electrodes are cored carbons containing chemicals in the cores. The main source of light is a small body of gas contained in the crater at the end of the positive electrode. This crater of gas quadruples the strength of the beam.

PSYCHO-ANALYST DEFENDS BLONDES AND BRUNETTES

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Rises now a psycho-analyst to refute the statement that red headed women are superior to both blondes and brunettes.

The fearless character analyst is Abner W. Lamar, Atlanta. He claims that red heads are merely "exaggerated blondes."

Taking direct issue with Dr. C. L. Holland, who announced in Cleveland, Ohio, that red heads were to be preferred, Lamar analyzes them thus:

1. Enthusiastic and vigorous.
2. Superficial and silly.
3. Incapable of making as excellent wives as brunettes.

Brunettes, according to the analyst, are "more enduring, possess greater patience, fidelity, affection and tragic emotion" than either blondes or titlans.

Youngster's Frocks in Gay Hand-Embroidery

According to the foreword of the mode, this is to be a season of colorful hand-embroidery—a fact which pertains to the styling of little girls' clothes for spring and summer. In making wee daughter's wash dresses try combining cross-stitch and lazy-dazy stitch as shown in the picture. For voile, swiss or organdie frocks one can vary the work by drawing out threads and substituting fancy hemstitching done with colored thread, for the cross-stitch.

Georgettes, Crepes and Sports Silks Attractive

Dainty georgettes, crepes and sports silks are made up in many attractive styles and in many instances are self-trimmed, thereby requiring a touch of something different to give them individuality. This is where the dainty kid flowers come in, for many designers are posing them on either the right or left shoulder. They are soft and velvety looking, especially when of the gardenia family. The colors favored are the pastel shades of pink, maize, lavender, rose, beige and ivory.

Bedroom slippers in moose skin style with bright green suede soles are truly copied from those the little princesses wore in the "Arabian Nights." The upper part is of gold brocade fabric studded with small gold beads, and around the top is a soft warm band of white fur. To complete the idea of luxury, peach-colored satin is used for lining.

Besides the little hiss that seems to be common with most snakes they are generally incompetent to make any noise. There is one snake, however, the big water python or anaconda of Brazil, which gives a peculiar piercing cry at night.

CAYETY AND COLOR IN EARLY ENGLAND

Solemnity Not a Feature of Medieval Times.

The closer we look at medieval England, the more we shall feel inclined to picture it as young and hardy and joyous. To begin with, the country was full of color. The churches glowed with stained glass and painted walls; the dresses of the wealthy, men as well as women, were gorgeous and brilliant, and if the peasantry wore more serviceable russets and browns and blues, they usually managed to introduce a splash of red or other bright color in their hoods or kerchiefs.

And the country was full of song. Though the English were not so devoted to music as the Welsh or the Irish, and though the men of the south country were, even in the Twelfth century, less tuneful than the northerners, yet they were a musical race; and with the singing went dancing, and nowhere did the country dance flourish more than in England. Fitzstephen, who wrote a description of London at the end of the Twelfth century, tells of the dancing in the fields which brought to a close a holiday.

Medieval London was a gay, busy, prosperous city, with ships of all nations loading and unloading at the riverside, tradesmen calling their wares and crowds buying and bargaining at the stalls and open shop windows. On occasion, too, business would be suspended and the streets thronged with people to watch the king ride by in state, going to be crowned at Westminster abbey or returning from the wars. At such times the houses would be hung with silks and brightly colored cloths, in the open spaces would be built-up stages, covered with decoration, on which were fair women in beautiful dresses representing virtues, sciences or other allegorical figures, who would recite Latin verses for the king's benefit.

Though such a pageant as a coronation occurred but rarely, there was every year the excitement of "the marching watch" on the night of Midsummer eve, when the constables and police patrols assembled, fully armed and marched through the principal streets, headed by the mayor and aldermen and attended by torch-bearers, each with a straw hat bearing the badge of his company or ward; archers, drums and fifes, and morris dancers; bonfires blazed in the streets and the houses were gay with garlands and bright with lamps.—From "English Life in the Middle Ages," by L. F. Salzman.

SENATE WETS ARE OUTWITTED BY DRYS

DRY LEADER, SENATOR WILLIS, PRIES INTO LEGISLATIVE SNAIL

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Senate wets were outwitted by drys today when Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, dry leader, pried into the legislative snail and obtained a priority position for the Andrews dry reorganization bill.

Willis moved that the senate consider the bill under a morning hour rule which prevented continuation of the filibuster against the measure.

Willis' motion was adopted without a record vote.

Secret of Big Light Beam

In huge electric searchlights that cast beams visible for 50 or 60 miles on clear nights, the carbons are not like those of ordinary arc lamps. Instead, the electrodes are cored carbons containing chemicals in the cores. The main source of light is a small body of gas contained in the crater at the end of the positive electrode. This crater of gas quadruples the strength of the beam.

PSYCHO-ANALYST DEFENDS BLONDES AND BRUNETTES

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Rises now a psycho-analyst to refute the statement that red headed women are superior to both blondes and brunettes.

The fearless character analyst is Abner W. Lamar, Atlanta. He claims that red heads are merely "exaggerated blondes."

Taking direct issue with Dr. C. L. Holland, who announced in Cleveland, Ohio, that red heads were to be preferred, Lamar analyzes them thus:

1. Enthusiastic and vigorous.
2. Superficial and silly.
3. Incapable of making as excellent wives as brunettes.

Brunettes, according to the analyst, are "more enduring, possess greater patience, fidelity, affection and tragic emotion" than either blondes or titlans.

Youngster's Frocks in Gay Hand-Embroidery

According to the foreword of the mode, this is to be a season of colorful hand-embroidery—a fact which pertains to the styling of little girls' clothes for spring and summer. In making wee daughter's wash dresses try combining cross-stitch and lazy-dazy stitch as shown in the picture. For voile, swiss or organdie frocks one can vary the work by drawing out threads and substituting fancy hemstitching done with colored thread, for the cross-stitch.

Dainty georgettes, crepes and sports silks are made up in many attractive styles and in many instances are self-trimmed, thereby requiring a touch of something different to give them individuality. This is where the dainty kid flowers come in, for many designers are posing them on either the right or left shoulder. They are soft and velvety looking, especially when of the gardenia family. The colors favored are the pastel shades of pink, maize, lavender, rose, beige and ivory.

Bedroom slippers in moose skin style with bright green suede soles are truly copied from those the little princesses wore in the "Arabian Nights." The upper part is of gold brocade fabric studded with small gold beads, and around the top is a soft warm band of white fur. To complete the idea of luxury, peach-colored satin is used for lining.

Besides the little hiss that seems to be common with most snakes they are generally incompetent to make any noise. There is one snake, however, the big water python or anaconda of Brazil, which gives a peculiar piercing cry at night.

Where Iris Is Found

There are about 875 species of iris. They are chiefly natives of temperate climates. Iris versicolor, the large blue flag, is common in wet places throughout the United States as far west as Minnesota and Arkansas.

CAYETY AND COLOR IN EARLY ENGLAND

Solemnity Not a Feature of Medieval Times.

The closer we look at medieval England, the more we shall feel inclined to picture it as young and hardy and joyous. To begin with, the country was full of color. The churches glowed with stained glass and painted walls; the dresses of the wealthy, men as well as women, were gorgeous and brilliant, and if the peasantry wore more serviceable russets and browns and blues, they usually managed to introduce a splash of red or other bright color in their hoods or kerchiefs.

And the country was full of song. Though the English were not so devoted to music as the Welsh or the Irish, and though the men of the south country were, even in the Twelfth century, less tuneful than the northerners, yet they were a musical race; and with the singing went dancing, and nowhere did the country dance flourish more than in England. Fitzstephen, who wrote a description of London at the end of the Twelfth century, tells of the dancing in the fields which brought to a close a holiday.

Medieval London was a gay, busy, prosperous city, with ships of all nations loading and unloading at the riverside, tradesmen calling their wares and crowds buying and bargaining at the stalls and open shop windows. On occasion, too, business would be suspended and the streets thronged with people to watch the king ride by in state, going to be crowned at Westminster abbey or returning from the wars. At such times the houses would be hung with silks and brightly colored cloths, in the open spaces would be built up stages, covered with decoration, on which were fair women in beautiful dresses representing virtues, sciences or other allegorical figures, who would recite Latin verses for the king's benefit.

Though such a pageant as a coronation occurred but rarely, there was every year the excitement of "the marching watch" on the night of Midsummer eve, when the constables and police patrols assembled fully armed and marched through the principal streets, headed by the mayor and aldermen and attended by torch-bearers, each with a straw hat bearing the badge of his company or ward; archers, drums and fifes, and morris dancers; bonfires blazed in the streets and the houses were gay with garlands and bright with lamps. From "English Life in the Middle Ages," by L. F. Salzman.

POTENTIAL BATTLE LINE IN

encouraged by news of approaching reinforcements, they returned to the city, which had not yet been occupied by the main body of Cantonese troops, and regained control without opposition from the southerners.

While the Chinese forces were maneuvering about Sunkiang, Shanghai took on more and more of a military aspect. The foreign settlement was an armed camp, protected by barbed wire entanglements and guarded by British troops. Temporary barracks were erected on the settlement's outskirts so the troops could be available for instant action.

Machine gunners were mounted on high apartment buildings.

Civilian traffic was delayed by transport lines.

A drizzling rain made veterans who served through the muddy days in Flanders feel at home.

Three possible danger sources to foreigners in Shanghai were seen: looting by troops of Marshal Sun, who were being replaced by Chang's forces at Sunkiang; rioting by the Chang army being transported toward the prospective battle front; through Shanghai, and disturbances by both retreating and victorious armies should the Cantonese smash through the defending forces at Sunkiang.

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—(8:50 P. M.)—

Armed foreigners on the outskirts of Shanghai tonight were setting up machine guns behind sand bag emplacements and erecting miles of additional barbed wire to protect the foreign communities from Chinese soldiers or mobs.

Despite the warlike preparations which have resulted in the creation of two major lines of defense and a third for emergency use, Shanghai was calm and seemed unperturbed.

Shanghai's calm resulted from the knowledge that approximately 15,000 foreign soldiers, sailors and marines were available for the defense of foreigners and their property.

About 10,000 Chinese troops of Chang Chung-Chang's army arrived here this afternoon in high spirits and were placed about the north station. Others of Chang's troops who had previously arrived were sent to the Sunkiang front, 30 miles south of Shanghai. A foreigner returning from Sunkiang today said Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang's troops there were enrenching and that there was every indication that they would make a stand against the Cantonese nationalists.

Washington, Feb. 26.—American authorities at Shanghai consider the situation there does not necessitate the immediate landing of American troops, the state department announced today.

While British and other foreign troops are patrolling the Shanghai international settlement, American marines are being held aboard ship ready for an emergency. If American troops are landed they are expected to remain inside the international settlement, and not join the defense line around the settlement, which British troops are reported to have established.

American Consul General Gauss reported to the department today from Shanghai that there are no disorders inside the settlement and none anticipated now. The general strike is over and no formal state of emergency has been declared by the Shanghai municipal authorities reported. The citizens' volunteer force, which has been called out, is considered sufficient by the consul as a precautionary measure for the present.

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—General Frederick Ward's tomb at Sunkiang was occupied by northern Chinese troops but was evacuated at the request of American missionaries, the United Press learned today.

The tomb is under the care of the American Legion post of Shanghai. The report which reached here said the premises were not desecrated.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS—SWEATERS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The vogue of wearing sweaters with tailored suits is already an accepted style with Palm Beach fashionables and as Spring advances we shall see evidence of this sweater-suit combination up North. Sweaters in light shades with graduating colored stripes are favored above plain types. Dressy suits use silk blouses made on sweater lines with colorful horizontal stripes.

The collarless vogue is approaching and by springtime the dress with a collar will be a thing of the past. Round, square or V-shaped necklines are being used on nearly all of the smart Spring dresses of both sports and dressy type.

With the collarless vogue at hand one wonders whether sleeveless frocks will also return when warm weather approaches. Already we see instances of sleeveless blouses and vestees designed for wear under jacket suits.

White or purple corages are the favored ones of the moment. Violets in white or purple shades, sweet peas, white gardenias and small cluster flowers in white or purplish tones are being worn on Fifth Avenue this week by those who follow fashion's trend in the smallest detail.

The bow vogue is invading the lingerie world. Shoulders of nightgowns, hips of waisted chemises, panties and petticoat flounces use large bows of self material or insets of lace bows.

Earring hats are found among the newer evening bonnets from Paris. Usually they are helmet-shaped with round medallions or flat pompoms placed over the ears and with earrings attached at the sides. A draped turban of black satin extends in tab effect over the ears and has large round Gypsy earrings suspended at the sides. Gold turbans with earrings of brilliants are occasionally worn with the dinner gown.

Jersey sports frocks with zipper-like front closings are a new addition to sports attire. The metallic fastening is an effective finish for the V-shaped neckline.

Lounging Pajamas Are Liked by Screen Star

"Select the color of your lounging pajamas," advises Dolores Costello, famous screen star, "as you would the color of a gown or hat." This charming suit which Miss Costello has selected to wear in "The Third Degree," is made of pale blue silk, her favorite color. She thoroughly believes that lounging pajamas which are of a color that is not in tune with one's temperament cannot be conducive to relaxation and rest.

Velvets in Colors Are in Season's Fashions

With the social season at its height, finds velvet in the position of great importance that was predicted for it in the early autumn. At the opera velvet is outstanding as the material chosen by many of the smartest women, who in a number of cases show a preference for shades of rose and red, or for black combined with white and brightened by touches of silver or crystal. A brilliant tone of blue also is much in evidence and an occasional wrap or frock of green velvet emphasizes the vogue of this particular color.

It is noticed that with the tendency toward a more formal mode of dressing for afternoon occasions comes an awakened interest in rich materials that are adapted to fashions of this genre. Beautiful soft woollens lavishly trimmed with costly furs are used for many of the handsomest and smartest coats, but as a general thing one finds the use of velvet more pronounced.

MUSIC WELDS COMMUNITY TOGETHER

"Must be a band concert here tonight." That's the conclusion to be reached in driving through a town where every street is lined with parked cars and streams of machines are pouring in from all directions. That the stirring strains of the fiddle, fife and drum are invaluable agents in getting communities together is attested by the fact that no fewer than 26 of our 48 states have enacted band laws which permit the levying of a small tax for the support of a municipal band.

This flourishing situation is brought to light by a survey made by the Gonn Music Center in which the progressive states were found to be: Alabama, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska,

New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Wisconsin. Similar legislation is pending in Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Kentucky and New Mexico.

The amounts of the tax to be levied depend on the size of the town. They usually range from one-half mill to two mills per dollar of assessed valuation. The pioneer state in this movement was Iowa and many of the states in other states are based on the Iowa band law. This provides that the tax may be levied only after a certain percentage of qualified voters have petitioned to bring the question to a vote and a favorable balloting has been made. The tax may be repealed in the same way.

Authorship Unknown

It is not known definitely who wrote "The Girl I Left Behind Me" or the year in which it first appeared. It was sung so long ago as in 1760.

Rite Discontinued

The last continual burnt offering made by the Jews in Jerusalem was probably made A. D. 71, since which time no such offering was been made.

Chiffon Scarfs, Long, Wide, Thin and Airy

Chiffon scarfs, long and wide, are so thin and airy looking that when spread out they look like a gust of wind. Fringe weighs down some of them while others have square corner motifs of metal cloth to serve the same purpose. Light-colored backgrounds enhance the colorful designs that represent modern art themes, tropical flowers and pastoral scenes. Those having backgrounds of what is called atmosphere, which is nothing more or less than a soft gray, favor the deep red, orange, green.

Collared Sports Frock
May Be Spring Fashion

With the sports dresses are seen long flowing ties of gay prints. Most of these are in dark or very vivid colors in order to furnish contrast with the light colors of the frock with which they are worn. From all indications, the collared sports frock is to be an accepted spring style, with the consequence that ties will be seen. When a white sports dress is so collared, ties of different colors and to match a similar hat shade give the dress an entirely new character.

Satin and Taffeta

Frocks of satin and taffeta in beautiful evening shades are made on simple lines very straight and sheathlike and heavily trimmed with rows of bead fringe, showing much bright glit, silver and crystal.

Mirror Jewelry

A new form of ornament called mirror jewelry is made of flat round disks of gold or silver linked together.

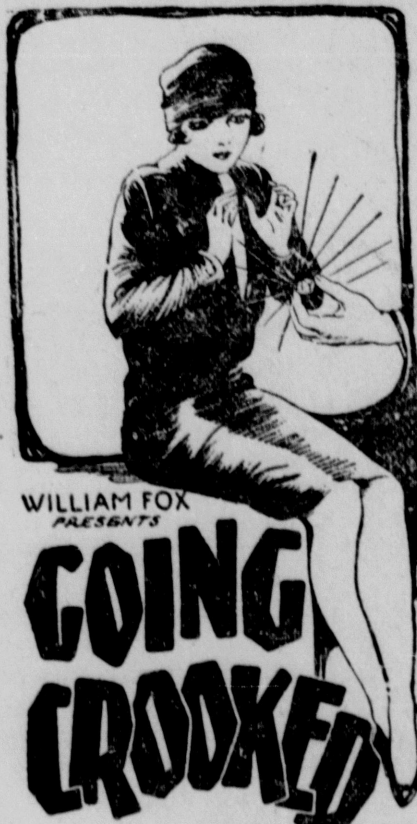

Folly of Fashion

"So great was the weight of the elaborately padded garments worn by men in England during the reign of Henry the Eighth," points out Frederick Tisdale in an article in Liberty, "that a bench was built along the house of parliament so the fainting dandies could rest their matted thighs."

To Err Is Human?
These men do not make mistakes!

THE romance and glamour of news-reporting hover around the intrepid reporter.

But the UNITED PRESS telegraph operator deserves a paean of praise for his unfailing accuracy in circumstances when a tiny error might shake the world!

The layman knows that telegraphy is a matter of dots and dashes. What he may not know is that with it goes a system of automatic abbreviation or "shorthand" which reduces "decided" to "dcd" and "judge" to "jdg" and condenses other words in similar fashion.

Thus: "Mussolini decided today" might easily be erroneously sent as "Mussolini died today" and countless other mistakes could easily become possible.

The load of responsibility resting on the UNITED PRESS operator is terrific. To err may be human but the dictum does not apply to him. HE MUST NOT, CAN NOT permit himself to make mistakes.

And when you remember that he sometimes sends or receives some 15,000 words a day, you appreciate the strain under which he labors.

This newspaper is proud of the faithful, accurate UNITED PRESS operators who send and receive the news gathered by UNITED PRESS reporters equally faithful and accurate. Look for the line "BY UNITED PRESS" in this newspaper every day. News so marked is accurate, true and authoritative.

Earring hats are found among the newer evening bonnets from Paris. Usually they are helmet-shaped with round medallions or flat pompoms placed over the ears and with earrings attached at the sides. A draped turban of black satin extends in tab effect over the ears and has large round Gypsy earrings suspended at the sides. Gold turbans with earrings of brilliants are occasionally worn with the dinner gown.

Lounging Pajamas Are Liked by Screen Star

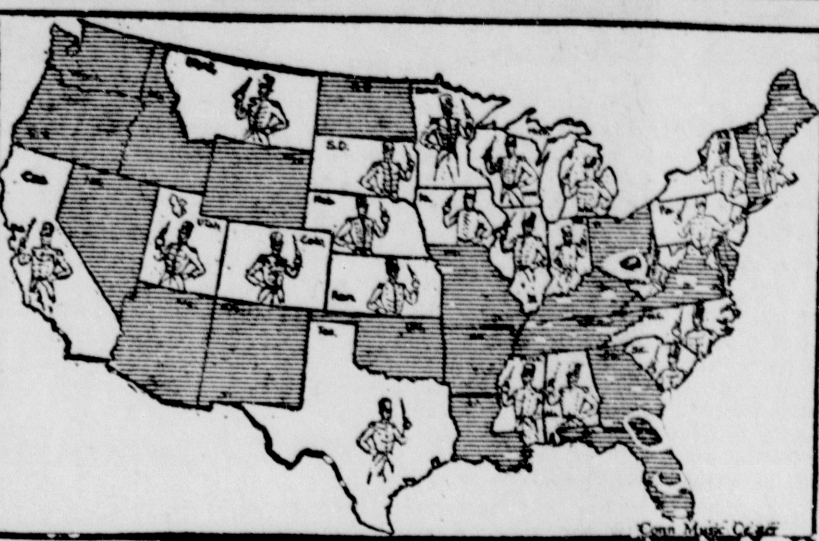

"Select the color of your lounging pajamas," advises Dolores Costello, famous screen star, "as you would the color of a gown or hat." This charming suit which Miss Costello has selected to wear in "The Third Degree," is made of pale blue silk, her favorite color. She thoroughly believes that lounging pajamas which are of a color that is not in tune with one's temperament cannot be conducive to relaxation and rest.

Velvets in Colors Are in Season's Fashions

With the social season at its height, finds velvet in the position of great importance that was predicted for it in the early autumn. At the opera velvet is outstanding as the material chosen by many of the smartest women, who in a number of cases show a preference for shades of rose and red, or for black combined with white and brightened by touches of silver or crystal. A brilliant tone of blue also is much in evidence and an occasional wrap or frock of green velvet emphasizes the vogue of this particular color. It is noticed that with the tendency toward a more formal mode of dressing for afternoon occasions comes an awakened interest in rich materials that are adapted to fashions of this genre. Beautiful soft woollens lavishly trimmed with costly furs are used for many of the handsomest and smartest coats, but as a general thing one finds the use of velvet more pronounced.

"Must be a band concert here tonight." That's the conclusion to be reached in driving through a town where every street is lined with parked cars and streams of machines are pouring in from all directions. That the stirring strains of the fiddle, fife and drum are invaluable agents in getting communities together is attested by the fact that no fewer than 26 of our 48 states have enacted band laws which permit the levying of a small tax for the support of a municipal band.

This flourishing situation is brought to light by a survey made by the Conn Music Center in which the progressive states were found to be: Alabama, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska,

New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Wisconsin. Similar legislation is pending in Arizona, Florida, Idaho, Kentucky and New Mexico.

The amounts of the tax to be levied depend on the size of the town. They usually range from one-half mill to two mills per dollar of assessed valuation. The pioneer state in this movement was Iowa where many of the statutes in other states are based on the Iowa band law. This provides that the tax may be levied only after a certain percentage of qualified voters have petitioned to bring the question to a vote and a favorable balloting has been made. The tax may be repealed in the same way.

Chiffon Scarfs, Long, Wide, Thin and Airy

Chiffon scarfs, long and wide, are so thin and airy looking that when spread out they look like a gust of wind. Fringe weighs down some of them while others have square corner motifs of metal cloth to serve the same purpose. Light-colored backgrounds enhance the colorful designs that represent modern art themes, tropical flowers and pastoral scenes. Those having backgrounds of what is called atmosphere, which is nothing more or less than a soft gray, favor the deep red, orange, green.

Collared Sports Frock May Be Spring Fashion

With the sports dresses are seen long flowing ties of gay prints. Most of these are in dark or very vivid colors in order to furnish contrast with the light colors of the frock with which they are worn. From all indications, the collared sports frock is to be an accepted spring style, with the consequence that ties will be seen. When a white sports dress is so colored, ties of different colors and to match a similar hat shade give the dress an entirely new character.

Satin and Taffeta

Frocks of satin and taffeta in beautiful evening shades are made on simple lines very straight and sheathlike and heavily trimmed with rows of bead fringe, showing much bright gilt, silver and crystal.

Mirror Jewelry

Folly of Fashion

"So great was the weight of the elaborately padded garments worn by men in England during the reign of Henry the Eighth," points out Frederick Tisdale in an article in Liberty, "that a bench was built along the house of parliament so the fainting dandies could rest their matted thighs."

To Err Is Human?

These men do not make mistakes!

THE romance and glamour of news-reporting hover around the intrepid reporter.

But the UNITED PRESS telegraph operator deserves a paean of praise for his unflinching accuracy in circumstances when a tiny error might shake the world!

The layman knows that telegraphy is a matter of dots and dashes. What he may not know is that with it goes a system of automatic abbreviation or "shorthand" which reduces "decided" to "dcd" and "judge" to "jdg" and condenses other words in similar fashion.

Thus: "Mussolini decided today" might easily be erroneously sent as "Mussolini died today" and countless other mistakes could easily become possible.

The load of responsibility resting on the UNITED PRESS operator is terrific. To err may be human but the dictum does not apply to him. HE MUST NOT, CAN NOT permit himself to make mistakes.

And when you remember that he sometimes sends or receives some 15,000 words a day, you appreciate the strain under which he labors.

This newspaper is proud of the faithful, accurate UNITED PRESS operators who send and receive the news gathered by UNITED PRESS reporters equally faithful and accurate. Look for the line "BY UNITED PRESS" in this newspaper every day. News so marked is accurate, true and authoritative.

THE FIGHTING IN CHINA

As recorded by Lyle C. Wilson, cable editor of the United Press, the richest undeveloped country in the world today is the prize for which the opposing factions in China are fighting.

The opposing factions are: South China, represented by the Nationalist leaders and soldiers of Canton. North China, represented by a loose coalition of the Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, of Manchuria, Sun Chuan-fang, of Kiang-Su, and Wu Pei-Fu, of the province of Hupeh until the Cantonese drove him from it a few months ago. In almost all respects the Southern and Northern Chinese differ physically, intellectually, linguistically and especially politically.

A third factor in the troubles of China is the foreigner. When foreigners first penetrated China, the Chinese of their own accord urged foreigners to accept tracts of land at various ports, on seas and rivers, upon which to form their own communities policed by foreign police, administered by foreign administrations, and subject to foreign laws. The Chinese did so because they did not care to mingle with foreigners, whose ways they did not understand.

The tracts or concessions were developed with foreign money and became valuable. Factories were built, banks were founded, public improvements were installed and millions of dollars were invested. About 15 years ago there came the Chinese revolution and the founding of republican government in China. The republic did not function well in the beginning and it steadily became less efficient.

Military governors of various provinces usurped complete authority within their own borders, collected and kept the taxes, imposed new taxes arbitrarily and from time to time fought with neighboring military governments. The authority of the central government at Peking faded to nothing and is nil today.

The Cantonese, through their spokesman, Eugene Chen, at Hankow, charge Britain with having embarked on an imperialistic policy in China and the principal anti-foreign effort so far in the current trouble has been directed against Britain.

The northern allies, Chang, Wu and Sun, are reported more amenable to foreigners' suggestions. It is the nationalist purpose to regain for China control of the territory, concessions, once cheerfully given the foreigners. The Cantonese want to abrogate the extra-territoriality treaties which gave foreigners the right to govern themselves and to enjoy the jurisdiction of their own courts in China. The Cantonese want to negotiate new treaties which would recognize the independent sovereignty of China over every inch of the so-called republic.

There are two foreign settlements in Shanghai, through which port passes 40 per cent of the Chinese trade. They are the international settlement, in which live most of the foreigners, and the French settlement. The Chinese city lies upstream from both.

NO MORE TRADING STAMPS IN DAWSON

ARTIFICIAL stimulation of business generally has a reaction, unwelcome at times. The Dawson Sentinel states that Dawson merchants have discontinued the practice of giving trading stamps after the first of February. The holders of stamps were given until the middle of the month to redeem them.

The practice of giving trading stamps has gradually encroached upon the business at Dawson until it has become a nuisance and a serious loss to the dealers, continues the Sentinel. "In the past year, in the neighborhood of $9,000 has been paid out by Dawson merchants for these stamps to the companies that promote them, chiefly located in the great metropolitan cities and living off from the small towns by pitting merchants one against the other to fight for trade by giving away a part of the legitimate profit necessary to continue in business with good, dependable merchandise."

Trading stamps, discount slips and premium coupons of every kind, says the Sentinel in conclusion, will be taboo after the first of February.

CENSORSHIPS

PEOPLE have generally been under the impression that legislative bodies were created for the purpose of making laws that would serve the public—but it seems otherwise. Indications are that law-making machinery is being utilized to promote the peculiar prejudices of some of the legislators or their friends.

Recent reports of enactments or attempts to enact, include one that all galoshes must be buttoned; several little girls have been denied schooling because they wore bloomers; one girl was declared immoral and a social menace by the community because she wore boy's trousers riding a bicycle. A Tennessee legislator proposes an anti-gossip bill; a state senator has framed a bill making it a prison offense to make, sell or give away mince pies; he quotes the Kansas law against cigarettes as a basis; Nebraska legislators want to tax people of that state who don't get married. In New York a bill was introduced to pension people married for 50 years, $100 a month; a Chicago man wants a national dance censor who will forbid all new dances. Plays and books are to be censored, and several anti-evolution bills, blue laws, etc., are programmed.

And it's no joke, because many of them will get on the books. The pity of it is that it is easier to pass ten laws than to repeal one.—Staples World.

FORD ON CUYUNA RANGE

It is reported that a group of Cuyuna range mining men are urging Henry Ford to obtain interests here, says the Deerwood Enterprise. A Henry Ford mine would certainly be an asset to the locality in which it is established.

That reminds us that years ago the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce compiled an authoritative pamphlet on Cuyuna iron range mining and sent it to the chief engineers of Mr. Ford. Matinee Ladies

BY
William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. pictureization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poverty-stricken engineering student who is working his way through college by whatever jobs he can get at the college employment bureau, is informed by his two chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—by working as dancing partners, of evenings, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse, remembering his bitter four year battle with poverty.

Bob had even pledged himself in debt to get through this all-important senior year. The University authorities, the Employment Bureau, the professors, his mates, all had been bully. But this was undoubtedly a strain and a sacrifice far beyond what any other working university student had ever been called upon to make; there was nothing for Bob to do but fight his way out, somehow.

Then the offer from his two sworn chums, Freddy and Arch, who had scented the roadhouse work, entertaining the so-called "Matinee Ladies," and had immediately spoken up to the Proprietress of the Inn for their hard-pressed friend.

Many of these matters Bob Ward reviewed in his mind during the ride down to the Port Lee ferry, the pleasant trip, across the swirling river in the bright early afternoon sunshine of a glorious Spring day, and the rapid flight in a great bus through a bristling woods that fringed the rim of the upper Palisades like a coxcomb; to the secluded and exclusive Palisado Inn.

Far, far from the nearest town, nestling in a ten-acre private pre-

—this girl, at first glance. For all the wide world, a fragile and white and gold Dresden doll just stepped out of a picture book. Even to the winsome costume she wore—an old World, an old century sort of a flimsy thing, of oh! so modest length, with short, puffed sleeves encircling a creamy upper arm, and with a tight little bodice and a deep-V neck cut low over a gossamer white, tissue-like skin, delicately traced by blue veins between the gently budding breasts of young girlhood. A picture she was, indeed—an old fashioned picture of a sweetness that belonged in a larkspur and hollyhock garden, not in a hot house of faded Broadway lilies. A slender reed of a girl, with a bowed mouth and big gray eyes and a misty cloud of honey-colored hair.

All these things did Bob Ward drink in at a glance as he stood there, bewilderedly staring. And one thing more—that is, that there was rare intelligence and sharpness and wit in the eyes, for all their demureness; in the dimpling corners of her mouth, for all their coyness. The gamin lurking behind the maiden.

When Freddy and Arch laughingly shook him, to recapture his attention, Bob was as sore a romantic youth as ever was rudely awakened from love's adventurous young dream.

The Vision was unsteady, now retiring. There, she was moving away. That was it. She was a dream. A pure fancy, that left a aura, sending his eyes and his brain, to say not a word of his heart, while his hilarious chums tried to pound and punch him back into the amenities of social decorum, which demanded that he acknowledge the pleased and approving greeting of the lady to whom he was being presented.

A buxom and capable and mar-

The girl who was the object of Bob's startled glance returned to serve, the Palisado Inn reared its squat head, and its upper windows like piggy eyes, above the copse. A great spider watching for flies; a mammoth bug leering its dominion over the crawling things, the buzzing things, of the surrounding woods. Normal life passed by the Palisado Inn. The life that frolicked and seethed within its too-gaily toned walls was the uneven, surfeited life of flies rampant in a deserted honey hive.

Bob was conscious of a peculiar sensation of stickiness, of heaviness, of sugary sweat, that left in his mouth the taste of an over-sweetened stimulant, that made his head feel a bit too light, as he stepped into the bowered side entrance of the Inn.

All the way over from the campus he had been subjected to a barrage of bantering by his exuberant friends—nice boys, both, Freddy and Arch, but without a serious purpose in the world other than the wherewithal for the day. Scholastic standing was the last, the minutest, of their cares. The future sat gently upon their heads. "Old Soberlabe," they dubbed Bob, rollicking.

A moment after entering the Inn, Freddy and Arch, as with one accord, turned to enjoy the expression that they expected would be upon Bob's face when he should see for the first time, the gaudy, hot, whirling interior of a fashionable roadhouse dance hall. They saw an expression that they did not expect.

"For the love of Hannah," exclaimed Freddy, "would you look at old Sackcloth and Ashes!"

For the novice's, Bob's, eyes were wide and starry and filled with the sudden vision of the prettiest girl he had ever seen.

CHAPTER III

It was, evidently, a reciprocal glad amazement. For the girl who was the object of Bob's startled glance was returning it with interest. It was quaintly as though neither of them had ever expected to behold the likes of the other in such a ribald place.

She was rather an incredible chi-

Paine's Claim to Fame

Thomas Paine was born in 1737 and died in 1809. Of his work called "Common Sense" it is said that it was "the first open assertion of American independence, and was probably the most powerful pamphlet that ever influenced a nation's history." In this sense Thomas Paine may be said to have influenced the preparation and adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

Some Things Can't Be Hurried:
For Instance, a Setting Hen

There are some things that can't be very much hurried. By way of illustrating this, T. A. Boyd, of the General Motors Research Corporation, said in a speech the other day:

"Some years ago when Charles S. Kettering was in charge of experimental work for the National Cash Register Company, the head of the company came to him to in-

enumerated five hopeful processes of producing substitutes for gasoline:

1. Fermentation of vegetable products.
2. Distillation of oil shale.
3. Carbonization of coal and lignite.
4. Direct hydrogenation of coal.
5. Synthesis of alcohols and hydrocarbons out of gases produced from coal.

Much important work has been done on all these programs, but none of them is near the point of commercial practicability. Mr. Boyd's point was that it is just about as feasible to hurry this kind of work as to speed up a hen in hatching her eggs; therefore it is especially necessary to keep all phases of research going on all the time. Nature has plenty of stored-up energy, but we know too little about unlocking the storehouse, so we ought to have experts constantly looking for the keys.

The sun, Mr. Boyd observed, focuses as much heat on an acre of ground in one summer as would be produced by burning 1,500 tons of coal or 300,000 gallons of gasoline. Vegetation is the most efficient converter of sunshine now known; but all that sunshine produces, in hay or wheat, an acre is rather less than the equivalent of five tons of coal. Mr. Boyd calculates that the vegetation raised on five acres of land is about enough to support one horse a year. Or, reduced to alcohol, it represents about 500 gallons, which as fuel would be about the average requirement of an automobile. So he concludes that if we would do away with the 25,000,000 horses in the country and convert into alcohol the vegetable products they require it would give us about 12,000,000,000 gallons of alcohol, considerably more than enough to run all the motor cars we now have.

Mr. Boyd concluded there is no ground for pessimism about future supplies of motor fuel; but he wants the country to keep right on seeking practicable methods of producing it. He paid high tribute to those who are financing and carrying on such work, but urged that much more of it is needed.

quire how soon a certain investigation would be concluded.

"In about a year," Mr. Kettering replied.

"All right, then, I want you to double your force and finish it in six months."

"Sorry, but that cannot be done. It will take just about one year."

"Do you mean to tell me you could not make twice as rapid progress if you had double the men?" demanded the chief.

Mr. Boyd used this story to illustrate the importance of research in the subject of motor fuels, which is going on in many countries. He

That reminds us that years ago the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce compiled an authoritative pamphlet on Cuyuna iron range mining and sent it to the chief engineers of Mr. Ford. He was given detailed information as to the Cuyuna iron range and invitation extended him to examine and verify statements made.

MISS CLEO MAYO of the local telephone office informs us that so far no Brainerd people have telephoned to England.

THE Crosby fire department answered a call in 55 seconds. Evidently it was a downhill run.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poverty-stricken engineering student who is working his way through college by whatever jobs he can get at the college employment bureau, is informed by his two chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—by working as dancing partners, of afternoon, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse, remembering his bitter four year battle with poverty.

Bob had even pledged himself in debt to get through this all-important senior year. The University authorities, the Employment Bureau, the professors, his mates, all had been telling him. But this was undoubtedly a strain and a sacrifice far beyond what any other working university student had ever been called upon to make; there was nothing for Bob to do but fight his way out, somehow.

Then the offer from his two sworn chums, Freddy and Arch, who had scented the roadhouse work, entertaining the so-called "Matinee Ladies," and had immediately spoken up to the proprietress of the Inn for their hard-pressed friend.

Many of these matters Bob Ward reviewed in his mind during the ride down to the Port Lee ferry, the pleasant trip across the swirling river in the bright early afternoon sunshine of a glorious Spring day, and the rapid flight in a great bus through a bristling woods that fringed the rim of the upper Palisades like a corkscrew, to the secluded and exclusive Palisado Inn.

—this girl, at first glance. For all the wide world, a fragile and white and gold Dresden doll just stepped out of a picture book. Even to the winsome costume she wore—an old World, an old century sort of a flimsy thing, of oh! so modest length, with short, puffed sleeves encircling a creamy upper arm, and with a tight little bodice and a deep-V neck cut low over a gossamer white, tissue-like skin, delicately traced by blue veins between the gently budding breasts of young girlhood. A picture she was, indeed—an old-fashioned picture of a sweetness that belonged in a larkspur and hollyhock garden, not in a hot house of faded Broadway lilies. A slender reed of a girl, with a bowed mouth and big gray eyes and a misty cloud of honey-colored hair.

All these things did Bob Ward drink in at a glance as he stood there, bewilderedly staring. And one thing more—that is, that there was rare intelligence and sharpness and wit in the eyes, for all their demureness; in the dimpling corners of her mouth, for all their coyness. The gamin lurking behind the maiden.

When Freddy and Arch laughingly shook him, to recapture his attention, Bob was as sore a romantic youth as ever was rudely awakened from love's adventurous young dream.

The Vision was unsteady, now retiring. There, she was moving away. That was it. She was a dream. A pure fancy, that left an aura sanding his eyes and his brain, to say not a word of his heart, while his hilarious chums tried to pound and punch him back into the amenities of social decorum, which demanded that he acknowledge the pleased and approving greeting of the lady to whom he was being presented.

serve, the Palisado Inn reared its squat head, and its upper windows like piggy eyes, above the copse. A great spider watching for flies; a mammoth bug leering its dominion over the crawling things, the buzzing things, of the surrounding woods. Normal life passed by the Palisado Inn. The life that frolicked and seethed within its too-gaily toned walls was the uneven, surfeited life of flies rampant in a deserted honey hive.

Bob was conscious of a peculiar sensation of stickiness, of heaviness, of sugary sweat, that left in his mouth the taste of an over-sweetened stimulant, that made his head feel a bit too light, as he stepped into the bowered side entrance of the Inn.

All the way over from the campus he had been subjected to a barrage of bantering by his exuberant friends—nice boys, both, Freddy and Arch, but without a serious purpose in the world other than the where-withal for the day. Scholastic standing was the last, the minutest, of their cares. The future cut gently upon their heads. "Old Soberlades," they dubbed Bob, rellicking.

A moment after entering the Inn, Freddy and Arch, as with one accord, turned to enjoy the expression that they expected would be upon Bob's face when he should see for the first time, the gaudy, hot, whirling interior of a fashionable roadhouse dance hall. They saw an expression that they did not expect.

For the novice's, Bob's, eyes were wide and starry and filled with the sudden vision of the prettiest girl he had ever seen.

CHAPTER III

It was, evidently, a reciprocal glad amaze. For the girl who was the object of Bob's startled glance was returning it with interest. It was quaintly as though neither of them had ever expected to behold the likes of the other in such a ribald place.

She was rather an incredible chit

Paine's Claim to Fame

Thomas Paine was born in 1737 and died in 1809. Of his work called "Common Sense" it is said that it was "the first open assertion of American independence, and was probably the most powerful pamphlet that ever influenced a nation's history." In this sense Thomas Paine may be said to have influenced the preparation and adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

Some Things Can't Be Hurried:
For Instance, a Setting Hen

There are some things that can't be very much hurried. By way of illustrating this, T. A. Boyd, of the General Motors Research Corporation, said in a speech the other day:

"Some years ago when Charles S. Kettering was in charge of experimental work for the National Cash Register Company, the head of the company came to him to inquire how soon a certain investigation would be concluded.

"In about a year," Mr. Kettering replied.

"All right, then. I want you to double your force and finish it in six months."

"Sorry, but that cannot be done. It will take just about one year."

"Do you mean to tell me you could not make twice as rapid progress if you had double the men?" demanded the chief.

Mr. Boyd used this story to illustrate the importance of research in the subject of motor fuels, which is going on in many countries. He enumerated five hopeful processes of producing substitutes for gasoline:

1. Fermentation of vegetable products.
2. Distillation of oil shale.
3. Carbonization of coal and lignite.
4. Direct hydrogenation of coal.
5. Synthesis of alcohols and hydrocarbons out of gases produced from coal.

Much important work has been done on all these programs, but none of them is near the point of commercial practicability. Mr. Boyd's point was that it is just about as feasible to hurry this kind of work as to speed up a hen in hatching her eggs; therefore it is especially necessary to keep all phases of research going on all the time. Nature has plenty of stored-up energy, but we know too little about unlocking the storehouse, so we ought to have experts constantly looking for the keys.

The sun, Mr. Boyd observed, focuses as much heat on an acre of ground in one summer as would be produced by burning 1,500 tons of coal or 300,000 gallons of gasoline. Vegetation is the most efficient converter of sunshine now known; but all that sunshine produces, in hay or wheat, an acre is rather less than the equivalent of five tons of coal. Mr. Boyd calculates that the vegetation raised on five acres of land is about enough to support one horse a year. Or, reduced to alcohol, it represents about 500 gallons, which as fuel would be about the average requirement of an automobile. So he concludes that if we would do away with the 25,000,000 horses in the country and convert into alcohol the vegetable products they require it would give us about 12,000,000,000 gallons of alcohol, considerably more than enough to run all the motor cars we now have.

Mr. Boyd concluded there is no ground for pessimism about future supplies of motor fuel; but he wants the country to keep right on seeking practicable methods of producing it. He paid high tribute to those who are financing and carrying on such work, but urged that much more of it is needed.

BASQUE WOODCHOPPER DEFEATS HANSEN

WINS TEN ROUND DECISION FROM THE NORWEGIAN

13,062 PERSONS PAID $41,768.10
FIGHT

PAOLINO, VICTOR, DIDN'T SHOW MUCH SCIENCE OR CLASS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 26.—Paolino, the Basque woodchopper, won a ten-round decision from Knute Hansen, a tall, slim Norwegian, last night in Madison Square Garden before 13-062 persons who paid $41,768.10 to see the fight.

But Paolino, who stalled off George Cook, the Australian champion, in Paris three years ago without gaining much prestige thereby, didn't show any more science or any more class in winning a decision over Hansen, than he did in the Paris bout.

Hansen went into the fight with a reputation of being timid, meaning he would fold up when a punch was led to him.

But Hansen didn't fold up. He blocked, and he stepped back, and he stepped in with a left hand when the opening presented itself and he held his own through four rounds of the fighting.

Paolino with his superior strength and his fighting at close quarters, including rabbit punches to the neck and left hand punches close to the belt, wore down the big Norwegian until he was so tired he could hardly raise a hand.

The judges gave six rounds to Paolino and two to Hansen and called the rounds even.

After the fight was over the experts gathered around the ringside, and they gave these opinions:

That Maloney would kill Paolino, that Sharkey would blind him, and that Tom Heeney, who defeated Charley Anderson, the negro, in a preliminary bout last night, would give him a great fight.

The battle last night was another of Rickard's tournaments to find a challenger for Gene Tunney.

But if Mr. Rickard wants a heavyweight championship battle that would draw any customers, he certainly could not put in Paolino or Hansen, or Jack Delaney. If he wants a real outsider from a foreign country he could put in Tom Heeney of New Zealand.

FROM CAFETERIA MANAGEMENT TO SPORTS MENTORSHIP

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 26.—(UP)—
From cafeteria management to football, basketball, track and hockey mentorship is the transition that Frank Savage has undergone.

As a result, the Hibbing Junior college, of which Savage is coach, is annually producing teams that are almost having their own way in the Minnesota "Little Ten" conference.
If Savage was a good cafeteria manager, he is a better athletic director.
Opportunity had to knock vigorously to win Savage to coaching.
While manager of a cafeteria at Rochester, he was chosen as Rochester high school physical director to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation.
This little incident changed his entire career. But Savage continued as the overlord of his "serve yourself" restaurant menu for the Rochester position was a part time job. He stayed with it for three years.

Then the Two Harbors Y. M. C. A. beckoned and Savage went there to be physical director, but remained for only a few months, returning to Rochester and the cafeteria.
Athletics again lured as an odd hours' occupation. Basketball and track teams of Heffron high school were under Savage's tutelage in 1920 and he was successful enough to attract the attention of Eveleth high school where he went in 1921 for his first full time coaching position.
During three years there, he established the school's reputation in all branches of sports.

Finally Hibbing Junior College landed him. Hibbing puts itself on the back at the thought of its luck.
With a good basis of experience with which to build, Savage's record here became:

1924—Little Ten football championship.

1925—Little Ten football championship again, Little Ten basketball title, Northern Division track and field meet honors.

1926—Little Ten basketball crown again; Iron Range Junior College hockey supremacy; Northern Division track and field meet leadership.
Born in St. Paul October 4, 1891.
Savage was a star, all-around athlete at South high school of Minneapolis. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska, but did not participate in athletics there.

FIGHT RESULTS

(By United Press)
Sioux Falls, S. D.—Billy Petrolle knocked out Joe Dawson in the 7th round of a scheduled ten round boxing match.

Bristol, Pa., gained a knockout over Jack Larkin of Philadelphia in the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout here.

local lightweight, defeated Eddie Lord of Meriden, Conn., in a slow ten-rounder.

Tampa, Fla.—Tommy Freeman knocked out Arturo Shekels of Belgium in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight. The men are welterweights.

Los Angeles—A foul in the final round cost George Davinge a decision over Paul De Hate, Compton welterweight, here last night.

Denver—Eddie Mack, local fighter, knocked out Marty Fields, of Chicago, in the third round of their four round bout here last night.

on a foul from Jack Kane, of Denver.

ona wildcat," victory over Jimmy Murray, Miami, Fla., in the fourth round of their fight last night.

Wichita, Kan.—Roy "Hoot" Burger,
"knockout king of Kansas," failed to register a 27th consecutive

MICHIGAN U. 30, ILLINOIS U. 26

3 WESTERN CONFERENCE BAS- KETBALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26.—(UP)— Stiffing a last minute rally which threatened to take away a well merited victory, the University of Michigan basketball team went back into the western conference lead by defeating Illinois, 30-26. Seven thousand fans witnessed the game.

The Wolverines held the lead most of the way, leading at the half, 16-9.
Failure to make several close shots during the first half went a long way toward defeating the Illini.

Daugherty, star Illinois football as well as basketball player, was held scoreless during the first half but four field goals during the last period gave him the leadership of his team.

Harrigan with four field goals and two free throws, lead the Michigan attack.
Chicago, Feb. 26.—Three western conference basketball games are scheduled for tonight, at least one of which may have an important bearing on the Big Ten championship.

A defeat for Indiana at the hands of Wisconsin tonight would probably mean the elimination of the former from the pennant race. However, a victory for the Hoosiers would again jumble the standing into practically the same positions of most of the year, with several teams having a chance for the title.

The other two games are:
Chicago at Iowa.
Minnesota at Northwestern.
Minnesota and Northwestern universities should have a lively time fighting it out for the cellar position.

BABE RUTH LEAVES FOR NEW YORK

EXPECTS TO SETTLE DIFFER- ENCES OVER HIS NEW CONTRACT

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—(UP)— His favorite bat will be the only "chip" Babe Ruth will carry on his shoulder when he leaves here tonight to settle differences that arose over his new contract with the New York Yankees.

Ruth declared that he was anxious to get back to his "regular" profession and expressed confidence that the contract controversy would be amicably settled.

"I've tried to conduct my negotiations with the owners of the New York club just as any employee in any legitimate business would do in asking for a raise," Ruth said.

"As I outlined in my letter to

Ohio State's Basket Ball Stars

Chief hopes of Ohio State's basket ball team rest upon this pair of athletes. Bill Hunt (left), running guard, is captain of the Buckeyes, while "Bus" McMillen, a sophomore, is a forward.

Hunt, a product of Toledo Scott high, is one of the few veterans on the squad. He won three "O's" in football and is on his way to his third in basket ball. He is married.

McMillen is one of the most promising new players to grace Ohio State basket ball since Johnny Miner, one of the greatest in Big Ten history, showed himself here. He is big, weighing more than 200 pounds, but gets around the floor with the speed and grace of an athlete of much smaller poundage. His home is at Delaware, Ohio.

POPULAR PRICES AT RAINBOW GAME WITH FLYING ACES

ONE PRICE TO ALL WILL AT- TRACT BIGGEST BASKET- BALL CROWD OF YEAR

NO GAME OF SEASON HAS CAUS- ED GREATER TALK AMONG FANS OF CITY

Popular prices will prevail at the game next Tuesday night between the Rainbows and the Flying Aces, when these teams meet to settle for this season the championship of the city in independent basketball. One price to all players will be the rule.
Everyone will be charged twenty-five cents, students, kids, adults, and everyone.

This game promises to be one of the best attended in the entire year, if advance talk among fans is any indication. No game played here this season has caused as much comment.

Manager Peterson of the Rainbows has whipped his team into the best shape of the year. When the Flying Aces first approached him for a game, he states, they asked that Engbreton be barred from the Rainbow line-up, which request was turned down cold as being unfair. "If the Flying Aces can win over the Rainbows we'll admit they're better than we are, but we wouldn't recognize them as champions if they beat just part of our team."

Since their recent victory over the high school, by a score of 21 to 20, the Flying Aces have felt that they could lick the world, hence their chalenge hurled at the Rainbows. They will be out to furnish their backers with one of the greatest thrills they have ever had.

Supporters of both teams are strengthening their vocal chords preparatory to making the rafters of the high school gym resound with their cheers, and the fans who miss the game Tuesday will miss one of the finest spectacles of the season.
Tickets went on sale today and were grabbed up quick by many fans.

As a preliminary game, the ministers of the city, headed by Rev.
Strothman, will take on the Persists, coached by Doc Steinfeldt.
With these two teams vying for the professional championship, a real opener is assured. The line-ups for both squads will be announced Monday night.

Cubert Ruppert, I believe I am on titled to a better contract and have offered reasons why I should receive it."

Ruth admitted that the figure he named is what some people, possibly Ruppert, will think is a lot of money.
According to Arthur McGovern, Ruth's trainer, the ball player is in fine condition although a bit tired from the extra time he has spent in completing his picture work.

He will put aside the grease paint late this afternoon and leave a few hours later for New York.

PLUS LARGE AND UNACUSTOM- ED COURT BOTHERED BRAINERD

IN FIRST QUARTER LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL SEEMED BEWILDERED

Bringing back an 18-11 defeat handed them last night by the nearly invincible Crosby-Ironton quint the local squad feels that things are not as bad as they might have been.
Having been beaten in a previous game on the home floor, 24-10, the team held their opponents to a 7 point lead which would have been even smaller had two field goals made by Guin and Fitzharris counted for the referee's whistle.

Perhaps the biggest factor in the local's defeat was their unlucky and poor shooting and to the large and unaccustomed court. The latter has lost many a game for the locals and may prove their doom at the district tournament.

During the first quarter Brainerd was completely bewildered and couldn't find its stride while C-I kept scoring time and again, succeeding in three field goals and two free throws before Lowe came through with a eager for the locals. Lowe, who has had a poor shooting season came into his own last night and contributed 2 field goals besides playing a good floor game.

Crosby-Ironton followed with a neat back hand throw that netted them another basket and after failing at a free throw an exceptionally short and swift pass to a guard directly beneath the basket gave the spectators a thrill and scored another field goal for the range.

The line-up:
Brainerd—Fitzharris, Orth, forwards; Guin, center; Lowe, De-Rocher, guards; subs, Orth for Fitzharris, Wise for Orth, Barnes for De-Rocher.

Crosby-Ironton—Radosovich, Wescott, forwards; Butorac, center;
Pomeroy, Christensen, guards; subs,
Smart, Satovich, Kruger, Viekstromi.
Scoring field goals—Fitzharris, 2;
Lowe, 2; Guin, 1; Radosovich, 3;
Butorac, 2; Kruger, 1; Christensen,
1; Satovich, 1.

Free throws made—Pomeroy, 1;
Christensen, 1; Orth, 1.
Referee—Smith of Bemidji.

Brainerd has won from the following teams—Pequot, 34-19; Pine River, 16-5; Staples, 21-7; Pequot,
20-13; Aitkin, 14-9; Little Falls, 16-15; St. Cloud Cathedral, 16-11; Motley, 37-2; Little Falls, 18-11; Ait-kin, 22-13; Little Falls, 18-16; and lost to Bemidji, 17-10; Crosby-Ironton, 24-10; Wadena, 16-8; Bemidji, 29-12; Crosby-Ironton, 18-11; Wadena, 17-8.

At the district tournament, March 3 and 4 at Aitkin, Brainerd is slated to play Staples in the first round as Crosby-Ironton vs Pine River, Ait-kin vs Motley, Little Falls vs Wadena. According to the known strength of teams now, Crosby-Ironton, Aitkin, Brainerd and Wadena should survive for the semi-finals with a battle between the C-I quint and Wadena for the championship.

The first elimination games will begin Thursday at 3 p. m., the semifinals on Friday and the championship on Saturday evening. Smith of Bemidji will referee.

Brainerd holds the present championship and as it was the first win in high school history every attempt will be made to retain it.

Games Tonight
This evening at 7:30 will see the B. H. S. second team pitted against the Crosby-Ironton seconds in a preliminary match to the Motley-Brainerd girls' tilt. This will close the scholastic basketball season and a last large crowd is looked for.

Amateur Gets Title, Pro Goler Has Name

Is the U. S. G. A. getting big hats?

The annual report of the American golf body has been drawn up. There is a laugh in the listing of the prize winners of the U. S. open at Scioto.
The two amateurs who finished with pros have been honored with the prefix "Mister" before their names. It is Mister Robert T. Jones and Mister Charles Evans, Jr.

But the working boys have no such title and their pibelian nicknames, "Willie," "Mike," and "Gene," are used.

MIKE KELLY LINING UP HIS MINNEAPOLIS TEAM

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Manager
Mike Kelly of the Minneapolis American association baseball club, confined to his home with a fractured leg since last September, was as active today as his crutches would permit, in lining up his team for the 1927 siege.

Reading the records, one would su-pose that the Millers are in a bad way. Only three signed contracts have been returned.

This is not as serious as it seems,
however. The boys are not holdouts.
They just haven't had time to get their names on the dotted line because the parchments were mailed out late.

Pitchers have been the first to accept the terms. All three contracts are from moundsmen. Jimmy Middleton, veteran tosser, was the first to get his debut in the safe. Wilbur
also are "in."

John Hollingsworth and Nelson
Green also will be available for twirling duty. With the addition of two or three youngsters, the Millers' staff will be complete. Hollingsworth is a veteran and Green is a comer who was farmed out to Nashville. Kelly also expects to use McCann, taken from the Mississippi Valley circuit, who had some creditable performances toward the end of last season.

The receiving of the Millers will be done by Amma Kamra, another Nashville acquisition. Gowdy and Krueger, holdovers, will be available to relieve him.

Kelly isn't going to have to worry about first base which is expected to be held down by Bill Sweeney, of Wichita, Kan.

Frank Emmer and Sammy Bohne will be at short and second respectively—if recruits don't force them out. Kelly has been promised a shortstop in return for Horace Ford who went to Cincinnati last year. Garry Herrmann, of the Reds also has assured Kelly he will throw in a second baseman in case Bohne decides to play elsewhere.

Earl Smith, Dick Loftus, Pat Duncan and George Fisher will be back in the outfield this season, but Kelly admits he wouldn't turn down a chance at one or two more hard hitting gardeners and is considering several likely recruits.

Kelly is as optimistic as one could be under the circumstances. He does not predict a certain winner, but believes the boys will have to be reckoned with.

When the association clubs entrain for the south next month, the Millers will have a new camp, at Decatur, Ala.

TRAC AND FIELD STARS AT CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26.—(UP)— Track and field stars of national and international fame gathered here today for the tenth annual Illinois relay carnival, the largest yearly meet of its kind held in the country.

Exactly 782 athletes, representing sixty-nine universities, colleges and high schools, located in 12 states, awaited the opening gun. This year's entry list was the largest in the history of the carnival.

Considerable hammering away at the various records was expected to take place during the day. Each year, since the inception of the meet has seen several of the records broken, and considering the quality of the athletes entered this year, indications were that several new marks would be made.

TWO-BASE LICK IS TRIPLE PLAY

Odd Experience of Schreck in Cleveland Game.

A lot of peculiar and almost impossible plays have brightened up the pages of baseball history, but probably the most unique play that has every been made happened in a game between the Athletics and Cleveland in the days when Waddell and Schreck were the star battery for the Athletics. In this play Schreck compiled a record that has probably never been equaled by going to bat with the bases full and none out and slugging out a legitimate and perfectly official two-base hit that resulted in a triple play without a single run being scored.

Impossible? Not a bit of it. Listen:
with the bases full and none out, Schreck leaned against a pitched ball and slammed a long fly over the center fielder's head that for a minute looked as though it might be caught.
The runner on third played it right by sticking to the bag, figuring he could score after the catch anyway, but the runner on second dashed over to third while the runner on first pulled his freight for second.

As he neared third the runner who had been on second saw the runner standing on that bag and turned and hottfooted it back toward second.
The runner who had been on first had already turned second base, and the two passed each other running in opposite directions between second and third, the man who had been on first being automatically out under the rules for passing an advanced runner.

In the meantime the center fielder had managed to knock down Schreck's hit with one hand, but failed to hold it, and Schreck kept on running. The runner on third was so busy shooting runners off that base that he failed to start for the plate until the ball had been returned to the infield, then La-Joie, taking the throw from the center fielder, threw it to the plate and nailed that man trying to score as he slid in.
That made two out.

Schreck had passed second during the ruse, which entitled him to a twobase hit, but seeing two runners already jammed on the line between second and third, Schreck turned and dashed back. The catcher, after tagging out the man trying to score and seeing Schreck nearing second on his way back, threw to LaJoie, who tagged Schreck, completing a triple play without a run having scored on an official two-base blow. That's one for the book, as the boys say.

BASQUE WOODCHOPPER DEFEATS HANSEN

WINS TEN ROUND DECISION FROM THE NORWEGIAN

13,062 PERSONS PAID $41,768.10 TO SEE THE FIGHT

PAOLINO, VICTOR, DIDN'T SHOW MUCH SCIENCE OR CLASS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Feb. 26.—Paolino, the Basque woodchopper, won a ten-round decision from Knute Hansen, a tall, slim Norwegian, last night in Madison Square Garden before 13,062 persons who paid $41,768.10 to see the fight.

But Paolino, who stalled off George Cook, the Australian champion, in Paris three years ago without gaining much prestige thereby, didn't show any more science or any more class in winning a decision over Hansen, than he did in the Paris bout.

Hansen went into the fight with a reputation of being timid, meaning he would fold up when a punch was led to him.

But Hansen didn't fold up. He blocked, and he stepped back, and he stepped in with a left hand when the opening presented itself and he held his own through four rounds of the fighting.

Paolino with his superior strength and his fighting at close quarters, including rabbit punches to the neck and left hand punches close to the belt, wore down the big Norwegian until he was so tired he could hardly raise a hand.

The judges gave six rounds to Paolino and two to Hansen and called two rounds even.

After the fight was over the experts gathered around the ringside, and they gave these opinions:

That Maloney would blind Paolino, that Sharkey would blind him, and that Tom Heeney, who defeated Charley Anderson, the negro, in a preliminary bout last night, would give him a great fight.

The battle last night was another of Rickard's tournaments to find a challenger for Gene Tunney.

But if Mr. Rickard wants a heavyweight championship battle that would draw any customers, he certainly could not put in Paolino or Hansen, or Jack Delaney. If he wants a real outsider from a foreign country he could put in Tom Heeney of New Zealand.

FROM CAFETERIA MANAGEMENT TO SPORTS MENTORSHIP

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 26.—(UP)—From cafeteria management to football, basketball, track and hockey mentorship is the transition that Frank Savage has undergone.

As a result, the Hibbing Junior college, of which Savage is coach, is annually producing teams that are almost having their own way in the Minnesota "Little Ten" conference.

If Savage was a good cafeteria manager, he is a better athletic director.

Opportunity had to knock vigorously to win Savage to coaching. While manager of a cafeteria at Rochester, he was chosen as Rochester high school physical director to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation. This little incident changed his entire career. But Savage continued as the overlord of his "serve yourself" restaurant menu for a time. He stayed with it for three years.

Then the Two Harbors Y. M. C. A. beckoned and Savage went there to be physical director, but remained for only a few months, returning to Rochester and the cafeteria.

Athletics again lured as an odd hours' occupation. Basketball and track teams of Heffron high school were under Savage's tutelage in 1920 and he was successful enough to attract the attention of Evelyn high school where he went in 1921 for his first full time coaching position. During three years there, he established the school's reputation in all branches of sports.

Finally Hibbing Junior College landed him. Hibbing puts itself on the back at the thought of its luck. With a good basis of experience with which to build, Savage's record here became:

1924—Little Ten football championship.

1926—Little Ten basketball crown again; Iron Range Junior College hockey supremacy; Northern Division track and field meet leadership.

Born in St. Paul October 4, 1891, Savage was a star, all-around athlete at South high school of Minneapolis. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska, but did not participate in athletics there.

FIGHT RESULTS

(By United Press)
Sioux Falls, S. D.—Billy Petrolle knocked out Joe Dawson in the 14th round of a scheduled ten round boxing match.

Lakewood, N. J.—Billy Muffo of Bristol, Pa., gained a knockout over Jack Larkin of Philadelphia in the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout here.

Bridgeport, Conn.—Steve Smith, local lightweight, defeated Eddie Lord of Meriden, Conn., in a slow ten-rounder.

Tampa, Fla.—Tommy Freeman knocked out Arturo Shekels of Belgium in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight. The men are welterweights.

Los Angeles—A foul in the final round cost George Davinge a decision over Paul De Hate, Compton welterweight, here last night.

Denver—Eddie Mack, local fighter, knocked out Marty Fields, of Chicago, in the third round of their four round bout here last night. Roscoe Hall, of Des Moines, Ia., won on a foul from Jack Kane, of Denver.

San Diego, Cal.—A stiff smash to the jaw brought Billy Alger, "Arizona wildcat," victory over Jimmy Murray, Miami, Fla., in the fourth round of their fight last night.

Wichita, Kas.—Roy "Hoot" Burger, "knockout king of Kansas," failed to register a 27th consecutive knockout last night but won six of ten rounds in the decision over Neil Carpenter, Denver heavyweight.

MICHIGAN U. 30, ILLINOIS U. 26

3 WESTERN CONFERENCE BASKETBALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Stiffing a last minute rally which threatened to take away a well merited victory, the University of Michigan basketball team went back into the western conference lead by defeating Illinois, 30-26. Seven thousand fans witnessed the game.

The Wolverines held the lead most of the way, leading at the half, 16-9. Failure to make several close shots during the first half went a long way toward defeating the Illini.

Daugherty, star Illinois football as well as basketball player, was held scoreless during the first half but four field goals during the last period gave him the leadership of his team.

Harrigan with four field goals and two free throws, lead the Michigan attack.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Three western conference basketball games are scheduled for tonight, at least one of which may have an important bearing on the Big Ten championship.

A defeat for Indiana at the hands of Wisconsin tonight would probably mean the elimination of the former from the pennant race. However, a victory for the Hoosiers would again tumble the standing into practically the same positions of most of the year, with several teams having a chance for the title.

The other two games are: Chicago at Iowa.

Minnesota at Northwestern.

Minnesota and Northwestern universities should have a lively time fighting it out for the cellar position.

BABE RUTH LEAVES FOR NEW YORK

EXPECTS TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES OVER HIS NEW CONTRACT

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—(UP)—His favorite bat will be the only "chip" Babe Ruth will carry on his shoulder when he leaves here tonight to settle differences that arose over his new contract with the New York Yankees.

Ruth declared that he was anxious to get back to his "regular" profession and expressed confidence that the contract controversy would be amicably settled.

"I've tried to conduct my negotiations with the owners of the New York club just as any employee in any legitimate business would do in asking for a raise," Ruth said.

"As I outlined in my letter to

Hunt, a product of Toledo Scott high, is one of the few veterans on the squad. He won three "OS" in football and is on his way to his third in basket ball. He is married.

McMillen is one of the most promising new players to grace Ohio State basket ball since Johnny Miner, one of the greatest in Big Ten history, showed himself here. He is big, weighing more than 200 pounds, but gets around the floor with the speed and grace of an athlete of much smaller poundage. His home is at Delaware, Ohio.

POPULAR PRICES AT RAINBOW GAME WITH FLYING ACES

NO GAME OF SEASON HAS CAUSED GREATER TALK AMONG FANS OF CITY

Popular prices will prevail at the game next Tuesday night between the Rainbows and the Flying Aces, when these teams meet to settle for this season the championship of the city in independent basketball. One price to all fans will be the rule. Everyone will be charged twenty-five cents, students, kids, adults, and everyone.

This game promises to be one of the best attended in the entire year, if advance talk among fans is any indication. No game played here this season has caused as much comment.

Manager Peterson of the Rainbows has whipped his team into the best shape of the year. When the Flying Aces first approached him for a game, he states, they asked that Engstrom be barred from the Rainbow line-up, which request was turned down cold as being unfair. "If the Flying Aces can win over the Rainbows we'll admit they're better than we are, but we wouldn't recognize them as champions if they beat just part of our team."

Since their recent victory over the high school, by a score of 21 to 20, the Flying Aces have felt that they could lick the world, hence their challenge hurled at the Rainbows. They will be out to furnish their backers with one of the greatest thrills they have ever had.

Supporters of both teams are strengthening their vocal chords preparatory to making the rafters of the high school gym resound with their cheers, and the fans who miss the game Tuesday will miss one of the finest spectacles of the season. Tickets went on sale today and were grabbed up quick by many fans.

As a preliminary game, the ministers of the city, headed by Rev. Strothman, will take on the Derelicts, coached by Doc Steinfeldt. With these two teams vying for the professional championship, a real opener is assured. The line-ups for both squads will be announced Monday night.

Coburn Ruppert, I believe I am entitled to a better contract and have offered reasons why I should receive it."

Ruth admitted that the figure he named is what some people, possibly Ruppert, will think is a lot of money.

According to Arthur McGovern, Ruth's trainer, the ball player is in fine condition although a bit tired from the extra time he has spent in completing his picture work.

He will put aside the grease paint late this afternoon and leave a few hours later for New York.

PLUS LARGE AND UNACCUSTOMED COURT BOTHERED BRAINERD

IN FIRST QUARTER LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL SEEMED BEWILDERED

Bringing back an 18-11 defeat handed them last night by the nearly invincible Crosby-Ironton quint the local squad feels that things are not as bad as they might have been. Having been beaten in a previous game on the home floor, 24-10, the team held their opponents to a 7 point lead which would have been even smaller had two field goals made by Guin and Fitzharris counted for the referee's whistle.

Perhaps the biggest factor in the local's defeat was their unlucky and poor shooting and to the large and unaccustomed court. The latter has lost many a game for the locals and may prove their doom at the district tournament.

During the first quarter Brainerd was completely bewildered and couldn't find its stride while C-I kept scoring time and again, succeeding in three field goals and two free throws before Lowe came through with a cager for the locals. Lowe, who has had a poor shooting season came into his own last night and contributed 2 field goals besides playing a good floor game.

Crosby-Ironton followed with a neat back hand throw that netted them another basket and after failing at a free throw an exceptionally short and swift pass to a guard directly beneath the basket gave the spectators a thrill and scored another field goal for the range.

The line-up: Brainerd—Fitzharris, Orth, forwards; Guin, center; Lowe, DeRocher, guards; subs, Orth for Fitzharris, Wise for Orth, Barnes for DeRocher.

Crosby-Ironton—Radosевич, Westcott, forwards; Butorac, center; Pomeroy, Christensen, guards; subs, Smart, Satovich, Kruger, Vekstromi.

Scoring field goals—Fitzharris, 2; Lowe, 2; Guin, 1; Radosевич, 3; Butorac, 2; Kruger, 1; Christensen, 1; Satovich, 1.

Free throws made—Pomeroy, 1; Christensen, 1; Orth, 1.

Referee—Smith of Bemidji.

Brainerd has won from the following teams—Pequot, 34-19; Pine River, 16-5; Staples, 21-7; Pequot, 20-13; Aitkin, 14-9; Little Falls, 16-15; St. Cloud Cathedral, 16-11; Motley, 37-2; Little Falls, 18-11; Aitkin, 22-13; Little Falls, 18-16; and lost to Bemidji, 17-10; Crosby-Ironton, 24-10; Wadena, 16-8; Bemidji, 29-12; Crosby-Ironton, 18-11; Wadena, 17-8.

At the district tournament, March 3 and 4 at Aitkin, Brainerd is slated to play Staples in the first round as is Crosby-Ironton vs Pine River, Aitkin vs Motley, Little Falls vs Wadena. According to the known strength of teams now, Crosby-Ironton, Aitkin, Brainerd and Wadena should survive for the semi-finals with a battle between the C-I quint and Wadena for the championship.

The first elimination games will begin Thursday at 3 p. m., the semi-finals on Friday and the championship on Saturday evening. Smith of Bemidji will referee.

Brainerd holds the present championship and as it was the first win in high school history every attempt will be made to retain it.

Games Tonight

This evening at 7:30 will see the B. H. S. second team pitted against the Crosby-Ironton seconds in a preliminary match to the Motley-Brainerd girls' tilt. This will close the scholastic basketball season and a last large crowd is looked for.

Amateur Gets Title, Pro Golfer Has Name

Is the U. S. G. A. getting big buzz?

The annual report of the American golf body has been drawn up. There is a laugh in the listing of the prize winners of the U. S. open at Scioto. The two amateurs who finished with pros have been honored with the prefix "Mister" before their names. It is Mister Robert T. Jones and Mister Charles Evans, Jr.

But the working boys have no such title and their plebeian nicknames, "Willie," "Mike," and "Gene," are used.

MIKE KELLY LINING UP HIS MINNEAPOLIS TEAM

Minneapolis, Feb. 26.—Manager Mike Kelly of the Minneapolis American association baseball club, confined to his home with a fractured leg since last September, was as active today as his crutches would permit, in lining up his team for the 1927 siege.

Reading the records, one would suppose that the Millers are in a bad way. Only three signed contracts have been returned.

This is not as serious as it seems, however. The boys are not holdouts. They just haven't had time to get their names on the dotted line because the parchments were mailed out late.

Pitchers have been the first to accept the terms. All three contracts are from moundsmen. Jimmy Middleton, veteran tosser, was the first to get his debut in the safe. Wilbur Huddle and Rube Benton, left hander, also are "in."

John Hollingsworth and Nelson Green also will be available for twirling duty. With the addition of two or three youngsters, the Millers' staff will be complete. Hollingsworth is a veteran and Green is a comer who was farmed out to Nashville. Kelly also expects to use McCann, taken from the Mississippi Valley circuit, who had some creditable performances toward the end of last season.

The receiving of the Millers will be done by Amma Kamra, another Nashville acquisition. Gowdy and Krueger, holdovers, will be available to relieve him.

Kelly isn't going to have to worry about first base which is expected to be held down by Bill Sweeney, of Wichita, Kan.

Frank Emmer and Sammy Bohne will be at short and second respectively—if recruits don't force them out. Kelly has been promised a shortstop in return for Horace Ford who went to Cincinnati last year. Garry Herrmann, of the Reds also has assured Kelly he will throw in a second baseman in case Bohne decides to play elsewhere.

Earl Smith, Dick Loftus, Pat Duncan and George Fisher will be back in the outfield this season, but Kelly admits he wouldn't turn down a chance at one or two more hard hitting gardeners and is considering several likely recruits.

Kelly is as optimistic as one could be under the circumstances. He does not predict a certain winner, but believes the boys will have to be reckoned with.

When the association clubs entrain for the south next month, the Millers will have a new camp, at Decatur, Ala.

Mrs. Purdue defeated Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Detroit, present Michigan champion, three up and two to play.

That's one for the book, as the boys say.

Infant Prodigy Is Fifty

American music lovers who can turn their memories to the time when Josef Hofmann was billed as the "Infant prodigy," will find it rather difficult to realize that the then youthful pianist is today celebrating his fiftieth birthday anniversary. Yet it was on this date in 1877 that Hofmann first saw the light, in the city of Cracow. His father was a musician and composer of some note and it was from him that the future renowned pianist received his first musical lessons in infancy. His progress was so rapid that at the age of seven he attracted the favorable attention of the great Rubenstein. At ten he made his first visit to the United States, but was compelled to abandon his concert tour because of interference by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. At a later age Hofmann returned to America, and has since been heard in cities throughout the country.—Kansas City Times.

Will Measure Volcano

The United States coast and geodetic survey of the Commerce department is co-operating with the geological survey to determine, by the most accurate survey methods, the exact elevation of Mauna Loa, in Hawaii, reputed to be the highest active volcano in the world. The height has been given as 13,675 feet, but this figure may have to be revised somewhat, since the original survey was not made with a high degree of accuracy. The most important point in the survey, from a scientific standpoint, is the question of whether the whole volcano cone is rising or sinking. This can only be determined by additional accurate surveys at intervals of five to ten years and will eventually furnish scientists with additional information as to the "why" of volcanoes.

Misprints

George Doran, the New York publisher, was talking about misprints. "The funniest misprint on record," he said, "was of course the one where the shipping editor's caption was placed over the obituary column by mistake, and a long list of obituaries appeared under the headline, 'Passed Through Hell Gate.'"

"But almost as good a misprint was the one about the accident case that said:

"The surgeon felt the patient's pulse and said there was no hope."

"Another amusing misprint occurred in the financial column of a morning newspaper. The financial editor was discussing a new gold mine company, and the compositor made him say:

"The company is about to offer the public 1,000,000 snares."

Rations for Fighters

During the World war the German soldiers were supplied with tea and coffee without milk. Small rations of rum and arrack were furnished to troops in field and camp. These rations were given out in the evening to be mixed with the tea. Fifteen to twenty men received one bottle. In times of great physical exertion, the allowance of sugar was increased.

Timid Creatures

When women engage, in my presence, in their favorite amusement of abusing the men, I say: "Ladies, spare my blushes. Permit me to retire while you do us justice."—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Fete Days Dependent on Church Sun Dial

In 1743 a meridian column was set up in the old Church of St. Sulpice, Paris, for determining the date on which Easter and other church fetes would fall. The column bears a long vertical mark extending down its center; this mark is prolonged on the floor. Together these two lines determine a vertical plane in space, which if sufficiently produced would include the earth's axis and through which the sun would pass at noon as the earth rotated.

In order to make this event visible a small slit was cut through the roof of the church in the same meridian plane. Through it the sunlight penetrated, slanting downward toward the line below, and swept across it at noon. As Easter approached, the sun's altitude in the heavens increased until the spot of sunlight finally crossed the line at the marked point. Since the other fetes followed Easter by an arbitrary lapse of time, the old meridian column, installed by Maurice de Sully, determined them all.—Scientific American.

Character Is Shaped by Means of Thought

Every day we are becoming more like our thoughts. If they are mean and selfish, we cannot prevent ourselves from becoming so. If they are unclean and evil, our character and conduct will inevitably be shaped by them. It is true that as a man "thinketh in his heart, so he is."

As Charles Kingsley says: "Think about yourself; about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you, and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch; you will make sin and misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you; you will be as wretched as you choose, on earth or in heaven either."

And on the other hand, loving thoughts will produce loving acts, and a generous, kindly way of regarding others in our own minds will bring us to a generous, kindly treatment of them in daily life.—Pentecost Herald.

Manners and Breeding

I make a difference between good manners and good breeding; although, in order to vary my expression, I am sometimes forced to confound them. By the first I only understand the art of remembering and applying certain settled forms of behavior. But good breeding is of a much larger extent; for besides an uncommon degree of literature sufficient to qualify a gentleman for reading a play, or a political pamphlet, it takes in a great compass of knowledge; no less than that of fighting, dancing, gaming, making the circle of Italy, riding the great horse, and speaking French, not to mention some other secondary or subaltern accomplishments, which are more easily acquired.—Jonathan Swift.

Post-Facto Postcards

The acme of preparation was attained by a woman whom the Boston Herald tells about. She had gone to a hospital to undergo an operation. Before the surgeon arrived she asked for two postal cards, wrote a short message on each, addressed them both to her husband and asked the nurse to mail the one it was best to mail the next day.

The nurse glanced at the cards and saw that one of them read as follows: "My dear husband: I have had the operation and am doing nicely. Will be at home in a week or two."

On the other card was written: "My dear husband: I have had the operation and am sorry to tell you that I did not survive."

Cassowary's Vengeance

A cassowary in New Guinea, after a formal magistrate's inquiry, was convicted of murdering two human beings. The criminal had been tethered in a native village as a pet, and, no doubt, had been thoroughly teased. Breaking away, it nursed its grievances in the bush until full grown. Then it came back and made war on the natives. A man named Tauno was killed in his own garden, and his mother, who went to look for him, was also murdered.

Such was the terrorism caused by the cassowary that people in the village were ordered not to go out alone.

Soft Bed Saves Sleep

If you earn your living mainly by brain work, you can save at least two hours of rest every night by sleeping on a good, soft bed. Such is the conclusion reached by Dr. Donald A. Laird of the department of psychology, Colgate university, following a series of experiments with students. By measurements of mental reactions in terms of calories, says Popular Science Monthly, he found that a soft bed will build as much mental energy in six hours as a hard bed will build in eight.

China's Olympic Games

More than 3,000 years ago China had gladiators who met in a contest somewhat like the modern Olympic games. These gladiators amused and thrilled the crowds not only with fancy juggling, but with real encounters between champions, one defending himself with a scimitar while the challenger tried to plunge a long spear into his body. Their skill would hold the audience breathless. There is an effort on to revive these feats of skill and strength.

ROY ZIERKE'S BILL PAID BY COUNCIL

French National Gems Are Well Protected

The ease with which the robbery at Chantilly was committed, in which the Grande Cond was taken, may recall to many tourists that the French crown jewels, including the great Regent diamond, considered by many the finest in the world, are exposed in the Louvre in a similar showcase, apparently equally unprotected.

No such simple means as were used at Chantilly will enable any one to escape with the jewels in the Louvre, however. There they lie in glass showcases during the day, stared at by hundreds of casual wanderers.

The Regent diamond alone is said to be worth $3,000,000. Near it is the Mazarin diamond and with them the great dragon-shaped ruby, Cote de Bretagne, cut for Mme. de Pompadour. The crowns of Napoleon and Charles-magne sparkle with fortunes in precious stones. Down the center of the great room, the Galerie d'Apollon, the most gorgeous in the Louvre, is a whole line of similar cases loaded with precious jewels from all ages, many of them presented by the late J. Pierpont Morgan. Sardonyx and Jasper, lapis lazuli, pearls, diamonds, emeralds, objects of rock crystal and finely worked gold make a glittering array.

What more simple than for determined bandits to force their way in at night in the best American fashion and make a haul.

But should they try it the bandits would be mystified. They would find the room bare, except for unwieldy busts of forgotten emperors and vases weighing as much as an ordinary "burglar-proof" safe.

For at night the wide glass cases containing the more precious jewels—all that a robber would covet—disappear into cunningly devised vaults built under the floor. And few are the bandits who could work the machinery which brings the cases into sight again for the next day's tourist rush.

—Guy Hickok in the Brooklyn Eagle.

Human Nature

The late Charles R. Erwin, the well-known advertising expert, attributed success in advertising to a knowledge of human nature. At a banquet in New York he once said:

"We used to hear a lot about scientific management. We hear nothing about it now. Why has it died out? It has died out because, unlike advertising, it ignores human nature."

"Look here, my man," a young scientific management sharp said to a hoary old head carrier, "let me show you how to pack those bricks in your box. You don't do it right. You should do it like this. There—see? By this new scientific management you actually get eleven more bricks in the box."

"Yes, sir, very much pleased," said the old carrier gloomily, "but to tell you the truth, sir, I like me old way best."

"Great Caesar's ghost! Why?"

"Because the old's easier to carry the old way, boss."

Foiling the Scandal-mongers

Put it out of the power of any one truly to report you to not be a sincere or a good man; let your practice give the lie; that is all very feasible, for, pray, who can hinder you from being just or sincere? To make all sure, you should resolve to live no longer than you can live honestly; for, in earnest, reason would rather you were nothing than a knave. —Marianne Andrieux

TAKES ORDERS FOR CARLOAD PYROTOL

County Agent Requests Farmers to Enter Orders by March 15

EXPLOSIVE IS SCARCE

Will Likely be Last Year for Distribution of Pyrotol

County Agent E. G. Roth who is again pooling orders for a car load of pyrotol this year has requested on account of the shortage of the government explosives that all farmers desiring the explosive tender their orders immediately.

The following letter in this regard has been sent out to the farmers in the county:

"What are your explosive needs this year? I am again pooling orders for a car load of pyrotol."

"I am informed by the University of Minnesota that this will probably be our last year in which government explosive will be distributed and that there is no assurance of any supply available after July 1 of this year."

"That being the case, would it not be a good policy to lay in a considerable quantity of this cheap explosive?"

"Pyrotol will keep and will not lose its value unless it should get wet. Pyrotol is one of the finest explosives we have ever had for stump blowing and rock blasting. It has helped clear thousands of acres of Crow Wing county land cheaply."

"I have suggested to a number of farmers that they build a little dug-out in the ground put a tar paper roof and store some of this explosive in it. In that way pyrotol can be kept dry, cool and away from danger, in case it should blow up."

"We are again asking a deposit of $7.00 per hundred pounds, the balance to be paid upon receipt of the explosive, to accompany order as we have to advance $7 per hundred pounds to the University of Minnesota when putting in the order."

"Please let me know by March 15 how much you will require."

Feb. 25, 1902

Last night Superintendent G. W. Vanderslice had as guests at the theatre in a private box, Master Mechanic Bean and Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Ingersoll.

The logging operations this winter have been anything but profitable and unless there is another month of good cold weather with some more snow the business this year will fall away below that of previous years. To begin with there was very little cold weather and it was late before operations really commenced, but it was hoped that the cold weather would hold on for a time and spring would not make its appearance until quite late.

Manager J. L. Smith of the Settlers Land Co. of Minneapolis has sold to the firm of Crocker and Crowell at Pine River 1,500 acres of land in 129-29. This land is just across the line in Cass county and is considered very good property. The consideration is said to have been $10,000.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

When making apple dumplings, wash the apples before peeling and put peelings and cores into saucepan to cook for ten minutes or more. After making the dumplings pour this water over them instead of plain water and it will give them a delicious fruit flavor and no fruit is wasted.

Use raw cabbage as frequently as possible, because in its raw state it is richer in vitamins than any other vegetable. A quarter of a cupful of chopped pineapple made up with the cabbage as a salad will give a variety to its taste.

Gingerbread with chocolate frosting is good for afternoon tea, and with orange sauce or whipped cream served hot makes a good dessert.

Beside the cake recipes in your recipe book, put the number of spoonfuls of batter in the whole amount. Then when you wish to bake a two, three or four layer cake, you know just how to divide the batter to make the layers of the same thickness.

Next week we have a very important announcement about something new we are planning and which we feel sure you will not only be interested in but be very glad to see us do it as it is in the nature of a new department which is very interesting to all women. Will let you know more about it very soon.

A Good Place To Trade

The Cat

The cat would make an excellent diplomatist; he is seldom ruffled, never loses his head, is usually polite, has admirable manners, and great aplomb, and there is that sharp claw concealed in the velvet glove to resort any in trust upon his interest or felicity. But, above all, he has the diplomatic virtue of concealing what he thinks. Whereas, the dog opens out his whole soul, the cat keeps it as close as an oyster. There is certainly nothing of the "new" or "open" diplomacy about the cat. He looks wise and maintains a grave and dignified silence. He may be cold, he may be selfish, but it must be said in justice to the cat that he does not make a business of ministering to human egotism—like the dog. His own dignity is to him of very much greater importance; he lives his own life, and goes his own way.—London Morning Post.

Music Is Swinging

The northern races are coming into their own in music. Music has swung into the fields of the less effete races in recent years. With this I associate the increased use of wind instruments, "as opposed to" strings. These are able to portray the wilderness, the primitive spirit and also the lonely musings of shepherds, the grandeur of the Himalayas. Nobody would think today of describing a mountain in string tone, but a bass oboe solo could do it very impressively.—Percy Grainger, in Musical America.

Livid Orange Used for Contrast on White Suit

Livid orange used for contrast on a white wool suit made by Jenny is a guarantee that that particular costume shall not be lost against its background. The knee-length coat of heavy knitted wool in white, with its collar buttoning high, is bound on all edges with orange leather, the binding extending back in points about four inches deep. The buttons, ranging in a close line up the front of the coat, are also of orange, in leather. Under this coat is worn a short skirt of the knitted white wool, with a jumper of orange jersey. The knickers of white jersey have long strips of the goods attached to be wound about the leg in the form of puttees.

He next appears in a monologue number and will follow with his musical saw, a rendition of some old time favorites. He then will put on his famous chalk talk act during which act he rapidly sketches from 15 to 20 pictures.

During intermissions the Boys Glee club of the Harrison school and young children doing folk dances will entertain.

It is possible that from Mr. Quackenbush's visit to Brainerd, this city will be included in the material for the construction of stories.

Friends and Relatives Gathered at Swedish Baptist Church Last Evening

ON 60TH BIRTHDAY

Presented With Bouquet of Roses and a Purse of Money as Token of Appreciation

A large number of friends and relatives gathered last evening at the Swedish Baptist church to honor the 60th birthday of L. J. Erickson. Mr. Erickson was presented with a bouquet of roses from the family and a purse of money by Rev. Seth Jacobson, pastor of the church, as a token of friendship and appreciation of Mr. Erickson's work in connection with the church.

A short musical program was rendered after which refreshments were served. The color scheme was carried out in pink and green.

The out of town guests were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Erickson: Mrs. Lee Brower of Carleton and Mrs. L. R. Wallberg, Duluth.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

When making apple dumplings, wash the apples before peeling and put peelings and cores into saucepan to cook for ten minutes or more. After making the dumplings pour this water over them instead of plain water and it will give them a delicious fruit flavor and no fruit is wasted.

Use raw cabbage as frequently as possible, because in its raw state it is richer in vitamins than any other vegetable. A quarter of a cupful of chopped pineapple made up with the cabbage as a salad will give a variety to its taste.

For cutting butter a table knife is better than a sharp one. Warm it slightly when butter is hard.

Gingerbread with chocolate frosting is good for afternoon tea, and with orange sauce or whipped cream served hot makes a good dessert.

Beside the cake recipes in your recipe book, put the number of spoonfuls of batter in the whole amount. Then when you wish to bake a two, three or four layer cake, you know just how to divide the batter to make the layers of the same thickness.

A Good Place To Trade

The Cat

The cat would make an excellent diplomat; he is seldom ruffled, never loses his head, is usually polite, has admirable manners, and great aplomb, and there is that sharp claw concealed in the velvet glove to resent any intrusion upon his interest or felicity. But, above all, he has the diplomatic virtue of concealing what he thinks. Whereas, the dog opens out his whole soul, the cat keeps it as close as an oyster. There is certainly nothing of the "new" or "open" diplomacy about the cat. He looks wise and maintains a grave and dignified silence. He may be cold, he may be selfish, but it must be said in justice to the cat that he does not make a business of ministering to human egotism—like the dog. His own dignity is to him of very much greater importance; he lives his own life, and goes his own way.—London Morning Post.

Music Is Swinging

The northern races are coming into their own in music. Music has swung into the fields of the less effete races in recent years. With this I associate the increased use of wind instruments, as opposed to strings. These are able to portray the wildness, the primitive spirit and also the lonely musings of shepherds, the grandeur of the Himalayas. Nobody would think today of describing a mountain in string tone, but a bass oboe solo could do it very impressively.—Percy Grainger, in Musical America.

Livid Orange Used for Contrast on White Suit

Livid orange used for contrast on a white wool suit made by Jenny is a guarantee that that particular costume shall not be lost against its background. The knee-length coat of heavy-knitted wool in white, with its collar buttoning high, is bound on all edges with orange leather, the binding extending back in points about four inches deep. The buttons, ranging in a close line up the front of the coat, are also of orange, in leather. Under this coat is worn a short skirt of the knitted white wool, with a jumper of orange jersey. The knickers of white jersey have long strips of the goods attached to be wound about the leg in the form of puttees.

SAMUEL INSULL
BALKS AT SOME QUESTIONS ASKED

TRACTION MULTI-MILLIONAIRE
BEFORE SENATE COM-MITTEE

HE AND TWO OTHER WITNESSES TO BE CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Washington, Feb. 26. — (UP) — Samuel Insull, traction multi-millionaire, again refused to answer certain questions of the senate election investigating committee today and the committee proceeded to cite him and two other witnesses for contempt.

Insull in a brief appearance on the stand revealed, however, that all the $125,000 he gave to the primary campaign of Senator-designate Frank L. Smith, republican, Illinois, came from the till of the Commonwealth Edison Company—an Insull public utility and electric light concern.

The committee considered this evidence highly important in view of the fact Smith was then chairman of the state public utilities commission.

It was also developed from Insull that he drew a check for $190,000 payable to the electric light company on June 30, 1926, to reimburse it for money taken from the . . . This, however, was after the primary of April 13, 1926, in which the money was spent. It was also after the senate investigation of the primary had been begun.

The new evidence is expected to be used in the fight now being made in the senate to bar Smith from his seat.

The contempt citation probably will be submitted to the senate Monday by Sen. Goff, republican, West Virginia. Daniel Schuyler, Insull's attorney, and Thomas Cunningham, Philadelphia court clerk, are also to be cited with Insull for similar refusals to answer questions.

SEEK TO POSTPONE PROVISION OF IMMIGRATION LAW

Washington, Feb. 26. — (UP) — A senate resolution postponing application of the national origin provision of the immigration law for one year was reported favorably today by the house immigration committee. The committee voted previously to repeal the law.

Not Worth Saving

A Scottish gillie who had accompanied a middle-aged and corpulent Englishman on a fishing expedition returned alone and announced that the visitor had fallen into the river and been drowned.

"The first time he cam' up I grippit him by the hair, but it was a wig and cam' awa' in ma hand, and doon he sunk. He cam' up again an' I grippit him by the collar, an' it was a dickie and cam' awa' in my hand, an' doon he sunk. A third time he cam' up an' I grippit him by the leg. Losh, it was cork, an' cam' awa' in ma hand, an' doon he sunk. So I said to myself, 'Weel, ma chappie, I'll let you drown. Ye're naething but a bag o' reum fashers.'"

Slaves Were Shaved

A clean-shaven face in the East was originally a sign of servitude. Old pictures show kings and conquerors heavily bearded and with long hair, while their slaves and captives are clean-shaven and close-cropped. The Greeks and the Romans later discarded "faced fungus," as it gave their enemies a hand-hold in the close fighting, which was, of course, the rule in those days.

Lighthouse Illumination

Most of the American lighthouses guarding ships against coastal rocks have now run the complete gamut of lighting in the last 200 years. They began with fish oil and then proceeded through sperm oil, rapeseed or colza oil, lard oil, vaporized kerosene with incandescent mantles and finally electricity upon which main dependence is put nowadays.

EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE KILLS
2 AT BERA, KY.

Berea, Ky., Feb. 26. — (UP) — Two men were killed today in an explosion of dynamite at Wiley, south of here.

The victims of the blast were: Jack Wright, 29, of Harrisburg, Ky., and A. H. Ensley, 28, of Canauga, Tenn. The men, employed by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, entered a tunnel following an explosion of a charge of eight cans of dynamite and were killed when a late charge of 12 sticks exploded.

Two others were injured in the explosion.

LONGEST LONG DISTANCE PHONE
TALK EVER HELD

LONDON IN SPITE OF STATIC

BY 9:06 A. M. CONNECTION COM-PLETED AND TALK WAS CLEARLY HEARD

San Francisco, Feb. 26. — (UP) — The longest long distance telephone conversation ever held was completed here today.

By land wire to the east coast and by radio to England, San Francisco talked to London, inaugurating regular trans-Atlantic telephone service from the west coast to Europe.

The attempt was accompanied by some trouble and for two hours after the trial was started nothing but static and noises came over the wire.

But at 9:06 A. M. the connection was completed and H. D. Pillsbury, president of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., talked clearly to Col. S. O. Shreve, the company's representative in London.

During the wait E. G. Miller, general manager of the land lines at New York, came on the wire and explained to Pillsbury that the trouble was due to a storm between Maine and New York, which interfered with the land lines in that section.

BARGE FOUNDERS
IN A HEAVY SEA

TWO MEN LOSE LIVES, THREE OTHERS BARELY ESCAPE
DROWNING

Newport, R. I., Feb. 26. — (UP) — Two men lost their lives and three others barely escaped drowning when the barge Luther Hooper foundered in a heavy sea off Point Judith today.

The three men rescued were brought to the Newport hospital. All were reported in a serious condition. Those in the hospital are Capt. John Brickhouse of Norfolk, Va., Henry Delory of Boston, and William Rice of Cleveland, Ohio. The dead men had not been identified at noon Capt. Brickhouse was reported in a more serious condition than Rice or Delory.

The barge was owned by the Eastern Transportation Company of Baltimore. It was being towed to Providence by the tug A. L. Walker when the accident occurred.

Heavy seas, whipped up by a coastal gale that has been sweeping southern New England waters since yesterday, battered in the hatches of the barge, flooding the trail craft and hurling the five seamen into the ocean.

The crew of the tug Walker, captained by W. S. Goslee, succeeded in pulling three of the five men aboard the tug, but the other two could not be reached. Their bodies were recovered, however, and brought here aboard the tug.

Not Worth Saving

A Scottish gillie who had accompanied a middle-aged and corpulent Englishman on a fishing expedition returned alone and announced that the visitor had fallen into the river and been drowned.

"The first time he cam' up I grippit him by the hair, but it was a wig and cam' awa' in ma hand, and doon he sank. He cam' up again an' I grippit him by the collar, an' it was a dickie and cam' awa' in my hand, an' doon he sank. A third time he cam' up an' I grippit him by the leg. Losh, it was cork, an' cam' awa' in ma hand, an' doon he sank. So I said to myself, 'Weel, ma chappie, I'll let you droon. Ye're naething but a bag o' rean' rasis.'"

Slaves Were Shaved

Lighthouse Illumination

Most of the American lighthouses guarding ships against coastal rocks have now run the complete gamut of lighting in the last 200 years. They began with fish oil and then proceeded through sperm oil, rapeseed or colza oil, hard oil, vaporized kerosene with incandescent mantles and finally electricity upon which main dependence is put nowadays.

Two others were injured in the explosion.

LONGEST LONG DISTANCE PHONE TALK EVER HELD

LONDON IN SPITE OF STATIC

BY 9:06 A. M. CONNECTION COM-PLETED AND TALK WAS CLEARLY HEARD

San Francisco, Feb. 26. — (UP) — The longest long distance telephone conversation ever held was completed here today.

By land wire to the east coast and by radio to England, San Francisco talked to London, inaugurating regular trans-Atlantic telephone service from the west coast to Europe.

The attempt was accompanied by some trouble and for two hours after the trial was started nothing but static and noises came over the wire.

But at 9:06 A. M. the connection was completed and H. D. Pillsbury, president of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., talked clearly to Col. S. O. Shreve, the company's representative in London.

During the wait E. G. Miller, general manager of the land lines at New York, came on the wire and explained to Pillsbury that the trouble was due to a storm between Maine and New York, which interfered with the land lines in that section.

BARGE FOUNDERS IN A HEAVY SEA

TWO MEN LOSE LIVES, THREE OTHERS BARELY ESCAPE
DROWNING

Newport, R. I., Feb. 26. — (UP) — Two men lost their lives and three others barely escaped drowning when the barge Luther Hooper foundered in a heavy sea off Point Judith today.

The three men rescued were brought to the Newport hospital. All were reported in a serious condition. Those in the hospital are Capt. John Brickhouse of Norfolk, Va., Henry Delory of Boston, and William Rice of Cleveland, Ohio. The dead men had not been identified at noon. Capt. Brickhouse was reported in a more serious condition than Rice or Delory.

The barge was owned by the Easton Transportation Company of Baltimore. It was being towed to Providence by the tug A. L. Walker when the accident occurred.

Heavy seas, whipped up by a coastal gale that has been sweeping southern New England waters since yesterday, battered in the hatches of the barge, flooding the frail craft and hurling the five seamen into the ocean.

The crew of the tug Walker, captained by W. S. Goslee, succeeded in pulling three of the five men aboard the tug, but the other two could not be reached. Their bodies were recovered, however, and brought here aboard the tug.

"Watch Your Time"

The Japanese nation has the characteristic oriental contempt for punctuality, so an annual "time day" has been established with the slogan of "Watch your time" and a suggestion that all persons carrying or possessing timepieces set them regularly.

Magnets Last Long

The life of a permanent magnet, magnetized in any manner whatever, has never been determined. A magnet made of the best quality of steel, properly heat-treated and aged, and used under the best conditions of service, would probably deteriorate only a negligible amount in the lifetime of a single observer.
